Warm Thoughts & Pleasant Memories

August seemed to fly by. September just set right in. September was the time for school to start. The students were excited and perhaps a little nervous. Strangely enough, even after all those years of elementary and junior high school, no one knew what the year ahead would bring. Each school year was unique. Time passed, new friends were made, new goals were set and old routines were changed to fit the new.

As the year slowly passed it left many warm thoughts for all. Sophomores went through the adjustment and initiation of their first year in high school. Juniors return to find they were moving up the ladder quite rapidly, with only one year left. Seniors were at the top, it seemed almost over night. They all had one thing in common, these were the best years of their lives.

The school year went by leaving many memories, both good and bad. The years recollection of sports activities, social organizations and many other functions, helped to provide many pleasant memories.

1. Watch out drill team here we come. 2. Mike Ciccarelli, Joe Rap, and Ricky Lopez fantasize about what "she" does in spare time. 3. "Mark Santanicola, you're not supposed to have porno mags at school!!!!" 4. Alo-ha! 5. Tom Selleck, here we come!!

Student Life

What is exciting, colorful, fun and humorous? The answer is undoubtedly student life at Vacaville High School. Student life may also be called student involvement, for student involvement in school activities is necessary in order to create a spirited atmosphere.

Student Life at Vacaville High School was practiced by the entire student body. There was the excitement of returning to Vaca High after a long summer vacation. We saw old friends, found out who had a new car, boyfriend, girlfriend, etc. Once school got underway there was all the color of Homecoming. With all the school spirit and bright lights who could miss the color? To bring fun into the lives of all the students, weekends were added to the week. The weekends were made fun by good times spent with friends. Humor was brought into plain school days by student dress up days, and pep-rallies. At pep-rallies, skits and plays were performed bringing many laughs from the student body.

Without student participation and involvement school would be boring. Without student life would school even exist?

Homecoming Week 1983

Homecoming is that special night that stands out in everybody's mind, but is it really only one night? Homecoming actually lasts a full week. This year that week began October 31, and ended November 5.

To promote school spirit, students were asked to dress-up and take part in lunch-time activities. Monday was Halloween so what better way to start the week then to have students and faculty dress up in their Halloween costumes. Tuesday was slave day. The student council members were sold as slaves and dressed the exact way their masters told them. There were a few very unique outfits. Wednesday we saw the clash of the classes when the sophomores dressed up as hopping teenagers of the 50's. The juniors looked as if they walked out of the 20's as gangsters. The seniors traditionally wore their togas. The togas ranged in design from flowers to Sesame Street. The teachers dressed in their best western outfits, ranging from Dolly Parton to cowboys and Indians.

Thursday, it seemed Vacaville High School was temporarily moved to an island in Hawaii. Students and teachers broke out their best Hawaiian apparel. It was the perfect atmosphere for the word Aloha. Friday was the day that showed the real spirit of Vaca High. Black and orange were the colors worn by all in honor of the big football game.

The lunch-time activities were part of a contest between the seniors, the juniors, the sophomores, and (get this) the teachers. The overall competition was won by the team that had the most points. Points were accumulated by winning games. Monday there were two games- the Pyramid and the Snake. In the Pyramid game a human pyramid was to be constructed by ten members from each team. After many ups and downs, the seniors took first place. The juniors won the snake game which involved holding hands and having the long line turn itself "inside-out".

Homecoming Week 1983

Tuesday was the slave talent show, put on by the same student council members that were sold as slaves. The seniors did a dance as pillow people. The juniors performed a skit entitled "Make Me Laugh." The sophomores did a spoof on all the commercials of Dentine gum. Teachers added their part by singing their version of the "Twelve Days of School." All the acts pleased the audience, but the seniors captured first place again. Wednesday was the apple passing contest. The contestants passed apples down a line with their necks - no hands allowed! The teachers won hands down. Perhaps their victory was due to intimate relationships with apples and years of experience in "necking".

Thursday was the Hawaiian Lei Day. The class attendants had to put a paper lei around the necks of as many classmates as possible. The winner was the faculty. Friday was a rally which proved to be very entertaining. The overall winner of the class competition was announced . . . the Class of 1984: seniors rule again! The rally built school spirit in preparation for the climax of the week: the Homecoming football game.

The turnout for the game was great, but the Bulldogs lost against a suprising Bella Vista Team. At halftime the drill team and the pep squad did routines. Then the queen candidates and the class attendants were driven to the stage in classy cars. The 1982-83 Queen Holly Wyant was present to crown the new queen. Tension mounted and Chantelle Landaiche was named the 1983-84 Homecoming Queen. The Queen's court consisted of Princess Nichelle Maxie, Princess Elaine Mayberry, Senior Attendant Pam Ford, Junior Attendant Karen Kassis, and Sophomore Attendant Marisa DePianto.

Saturday, November 5, was the Homecoming dance. The dance was enjoyed by all. It seemed the perfect way to end a fun-filled week.

4. Pam Ford drags Rick Jones on stage . . . whether he likes it or not. 5. Marisa Depianto and Karen Kassis really enthused about "lei-ing" people. 6. Mike Ruiz shows what real Hawaiians are made of.

Campus Classics

What is it that makes cars so in demand among Vaca teens? Is it the thrill of being in control of the machine? The ability to just take off and go? Or is it just being able to say "I've got wheels?" What ever it is that makes teens get cars, they've got them and so does Vacaville High School.

What is the purpose for these cars? Some students purchase cars for the purpose of racing or showing. Some prefer trucks for four wheeling. However, the most common reason is probably the most obvious . . . transportation. The perfect method of getting to and from school in style and comfort.

As you look around the Vaca High campus you can see an assortment of cars. The parking lots of Vaca High have obtained everything from the newest sports car to the junkiest of jalopies and every classic in between.

6. Chris Santella's classy 1968 Mustang fastback. 7. Scott Hawelu's 1977 Z28. 8. Nicole Henning leaves campus in her sleek TR6.

Mondays vs. Fridays

Did you ever notice how true Murphy's Law was, especially on a Monday? Monday's have been known as the worst day of the week just as Fridays have been known to be the day for partying and having fun.

It seemed that bad luck always found its way into Mondays. For example: heavy homework assignments, couples broke up, you forgot your books, keys, etc. at home. The school week started off on a Monday, that had to mean something. Have you ever heard of something good happening on a Monday? Garfield said it perfectly when he stated, "I hate Mondays."

Fridays on the other hand were what we waited for all week long. They symbolized fun and good times. Weekends began with Friday's! Not only that, Friday's meant the end of school. Good times, friends, music and laughs all tied in with the wonderful day we called Friday.

When it came to Monday vs. Friday, there was no comparison.

1. Do you really think Dan Sholberg is trying to get his books to study this weekend? 2. Cheri Ready thinks, "This can't be Monday morning already!" 3. 7:55 Monday morning and so far the only one to show up so far is Mr. Silva

4. These three Vacaville High students try to deal with homework on a Monday morning. 5. Just like everyone else, Ross Sharpiro starts his weekend homework at 11 o'clock sharp. 6. Lawrence Sanders looks like he can cope with homework on a Monday morning. 7. It's Friday, the bell rings and students are off for the weekend.

80's Rap

A new language was heard around Vacaville. It was a combination of Val's, Surfer, 50's and unique words that had been put together by the individual. If you couldn't understand the language don't feel bad you were not the only one. Meanings were turned upside-down, sideways and backwards to form catchy new phrases, It seemed Vacaville High School was going to have to put a new foreign language class on their fall schedule if that heat wave of words kept on.

How often did you walk down the school or downtown and hear a conversation similar to this . . .

..... Yeah, like this dude was totally buffed and the car he was driving was like, mega cool.

Yeah, I know! I'm all like excuse me, he was too fine but that friend of his was a real fag . . . . .

On the other hand you may have heard something like this . . .

..... Yeah I'm like getting totally bronzed out. See 'cause there's like this contest for like the most buffed and bronzed out surfer around.

..... Yeah, I know, I've been like working on my stick for the surfing contest. I'm all so sure I'm gonna win I mean my stick is like totally Da Kine . . .

Yes the languages have definitely changed with the times.

Fashion Flash at Vaca High

1. Patty Dykes and Lisa Evans show us their grins. 2. Michelle Cardoza in her usual attire. 3. Chuck Casillis and Aaron Wykes: fashioned for the California sun. 4. Scott Lopez: dressed to kill.

There was a wide variety of fashion at Vacaville High School. Through the halls, mixed and matched outfits in vibrant colors, bold stripes, and flashy polka dots could be seen. There was an endless supply of what the imagination could dish out in terms of fashion at Vaca High.

501's

501 jeans have been around since the 1800's and they were still in fashion at Vacaville High School in 1983-1984. With Polo's, T-shirts or blouses 501's keep all Vaca High students on top.

Sweaters

Sweaters came in a multitude of bright eyecatching shades this past year, on campus many different styles of vests, sweaters, blazers and scarves that had been chosen for the winter wardrobes could be seen.

The Latest in Denim

This past year it was the stonewashed jeans. These jeans came in a variety of colors, such as purple, yellow and green. These jeans were a hot item all over campus.

Cropped pants were also popular. They came in flashy pin stripes, bright colors or just plain denim. The style of cropped pants hasn't changed since the 1960's. The clothes of the 1960's seemed to return in the school year of 1983-1984. Mini skirts, oxfords, penny loafers and saddle shoes were all examples of the 1960's styles coming back.

5. Mr. Rogers on his way to the magic kingdom. 6. Jeff Baggenstos looking good. 7. Kristine Layne getting ready for a date with Ceaser. 8. Sophomores, as usual dressed prim and proper for the first day of school. 9. Go get 'um cowboy.

Break Down

This year, breaking spun its way to Vaca High. The popular dance, a form of popping, has worked its way from the inner city of New York across the country to our senior square.

Popping is a form of dance performed mainly by men and often for competition. It's done with punk, rock, soul, new wave, or anything with a good beat. It appeals to all kinds of people from all kinds of backgrounds. Popping is usually performed in groups requiring coordination and a lot of practice. Breaking, on the other hand is more individual and requires balance, strength and agility. One thing that all "Breakers" have in common is that they have to be in shape.

On any weekend, breakers can be found performing on street corners in San Francisco. Some talented dancers can even make a living and have fun doing it. Just like breaking came from popping, new dances and new styles will emerge in the future.

1. "Break down," said Robert Hickmen. 2. Hubert Evens says, "All together now." 3. Hubert Evens spins on his back. 4. Hubert Evens centipedes. 5. "I think I'm stuck," said Richard Branch. 6. The soul train bunch, Hubert Evens, Richard Branch, and Robert Hickmen.

Those Untold Moments.....

1. Pat Miller, ??????, Tammy Stone, and Jay Smith participate in the heavy competition at Mr. Carrington's egg boat races. 2. Nancy Hudgins dressed up as her idol, Raggedy Anne. 3. Gray Whitsett and Richard Stitts must have used Ultra-Bright toothpaste in the morning.

4. Scott Vinum made sure that everyone knew that it was Teresa Obetz's birthday. 5. Let's all smile pretty for the camera. 6. Hey, Mike Labarga, what is that hanging out of your mouth? 7. The yearbook caught Kathy Reynolds and Michele Gaudet with wide grins.

Senioritis - An Epidemic

Senioritis- (n) A type of fever caught usually by one in the last year of high school. (Some cases have been known to start much earlier.) This fever can have side effects such as cutting, flunking classes and (the most severe side effect) delayed graduation.

At one time or another the typical high school senior catches what is known as senioritis. The seniors of Vacaville High School are not immune to this catchy fever. No one is sure how this fever gets started or, once acquired, how long it will last. The symptoms and side effects still have not been completely researched.

The causes of senioritis seem to have been narrowed down. The reasons vary. The excitement of the senior year beginning. The seniors seem quite willing to test their powers as upperclassmen. The ski season beginning. The love for snow has a great influence on the stressed boredom of schoolwork. Then comes the spring. The grass turns green and the weather brightens. Senioritis may now be called springfever.

After spring, summer naturally follows.

1. Don't leave home without it!!!! 2. Rob Brunst may not be a senior, but he still skis with the best of them. 3. A new twist to the Nestea plunge. 4. See what homework can do to you.

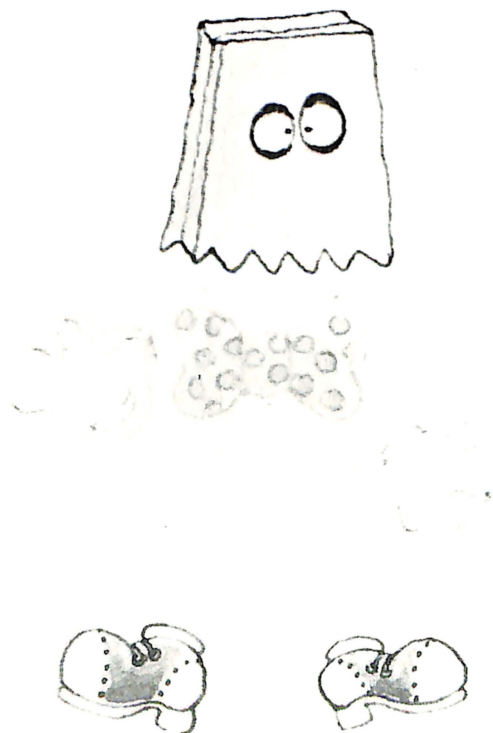

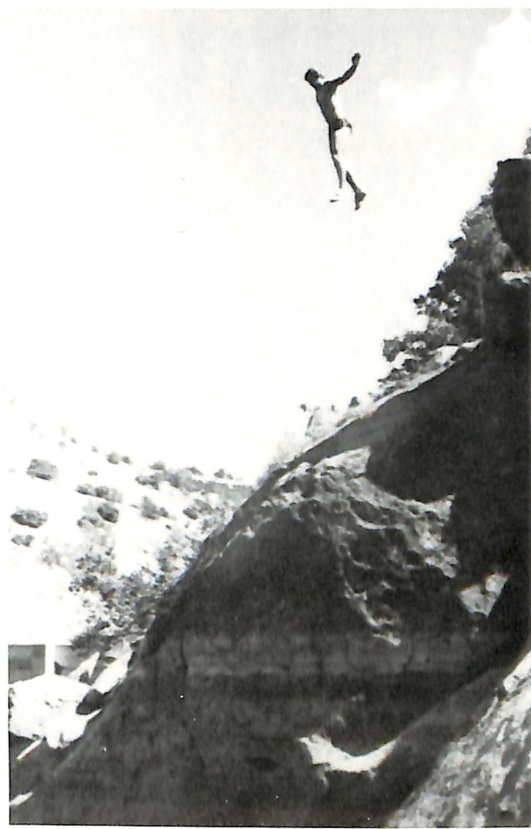

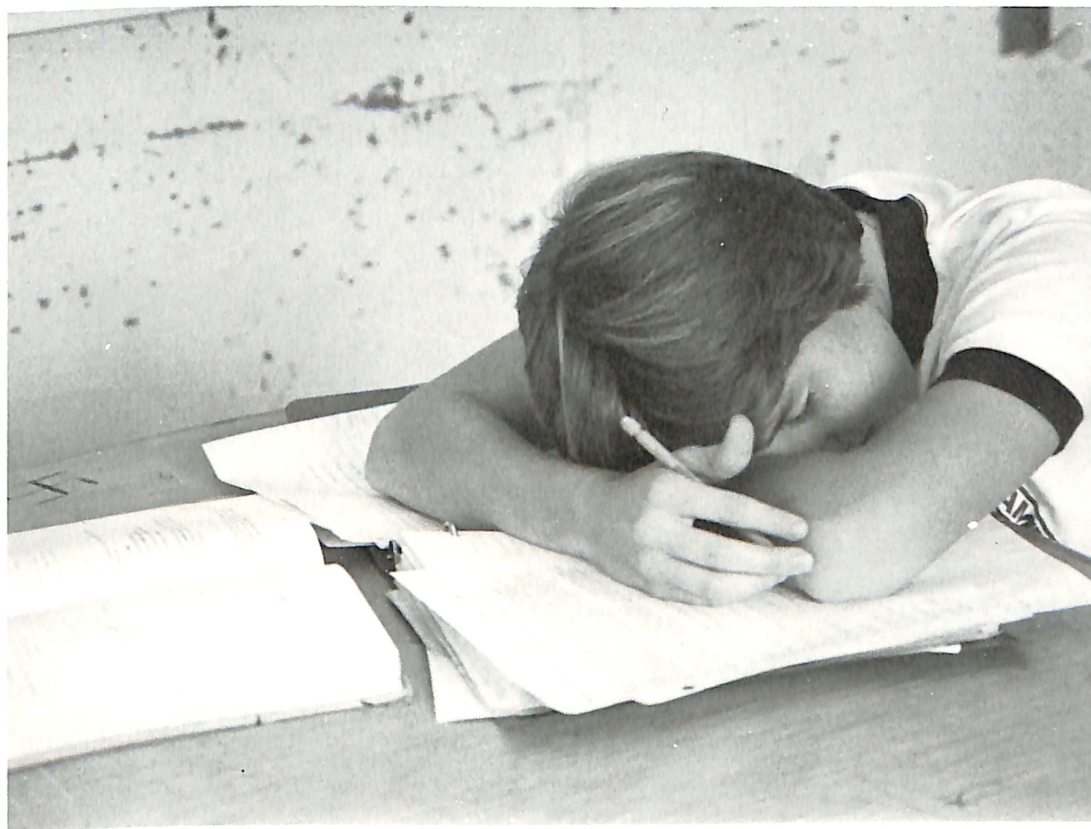

This brings the thrill of the Lake. Waterskiing and summer sports begin to take place. For the unsuspecting senior all these activities and plenty of parties is too much to bear.

The symptoms don't seem to be so bad. It is the side effects the seniors must watch out for. With the thought of the senior year being lost, it seems grades and attendance should be stressed. How many people worry about grades when they are at the biggest party of the school year? How much does your attendance in math class outweigh the thought of the class trip to Hawaii? These thoughts and others don't seem to worry the senior. This is why the side effects can have such a brutal outcome.

Seniors seem to cut classes more and party more. It's a pity when the fun is all over, what survives of the G.P.A. lasts forever.

5. Trig is Joni Mooney's favorite subject. 6. "Oh my gosh, the cliff ended!" 7. The unknown senior. 8. Seniors second favorite cruise mobile.

1. Geronimo!!! 2. Charlie Ewing at his most vulnerable moment. 3. The cruise in Vacaville (like there really is one.) 4. When all else fails go to the movies. 5. The grueling heat couldn't keep the dedicated fans away from the Rancho Cordova game. 5. Tim Marshall in a perfect swan dive and Troy Richardson following right behind in a not so graceful way. 7. A talented Mr. Hubbs shows his stuff.

And On The Eighth Day God Created WEEKENDS

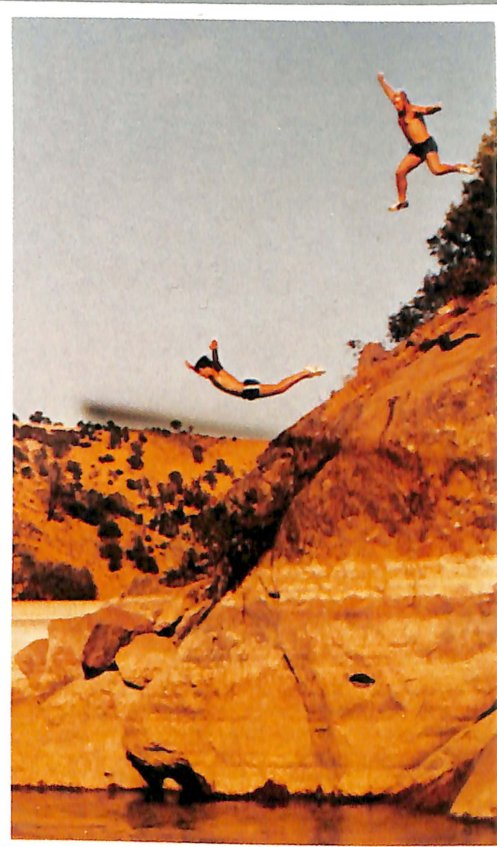

Some people may say that weekends are made for Michelob. However, this is not necessarily true. Weekends are a great time to get out and about. Tennis, going to the mall and watching football games are just a few of the things Jill Blichschmidt says she likes to do.

Of course, some students have jobs and those who do, know how time consuming that can be. The weekends are an essential time for all students.

Then there are those that are the "Happy Mediums". One of these such people is Ross Shapiro. On weekends Ross works, relaxes and . . . He said on weekends he likes to be, "comfortably numb."

So, whether you work or play, weekends seem to be a big part of student life. Without them the school year would drag on for ever.

Buff-N-Tuff Bulldogs

Pain, sweat and agony are all part of today's exercise fad. People everywhere are trying to get into shape to better their appearance. Some people exercise to be the fastest, others to be the strongest, but for whatever the reason it's being done all over.

Here at Vaca High we have the finest weightrooms in Northern California. Much hard work takes place there. Students work hard to win awards, titles, strength, and power. Others work out just because they like to.

The weightroom is used as a classroom as well as a weightroom. Its main purpose is to make sure that its participants know the proper use of each machine. They need to know this so they do not hurt themselves. The machinery can be harmful if not used properly.

Many of Vaca High's athletes workout regularly in the weightroom to build muscles and endurance for the sport they are involved in. They spend long hours weekly in the weightroom. For them, it's a constant battle of man vs. machine.

1. Don't strain yourself Bobby Powell. 2. Really Mike Ciccarella you don't need elevator shoes, your not that short. 3. Randy Villa won't break the weight record, but he certainly will break the speed record. 4. What's the matter Mark Johnson can't you get it up? 5. Mr. Smentek gives Jerry Gordon as much weight as he thinks he can handle. 6. I thought you were supposed to be showing us your biceps?

Christmas Unleashed Carrington Style

1. Ziggy's Christmas. 2. Gumby wishes everyone a Merry Christmas. 3. Third period Trig/Analysis presents an "Hawaiian Christmas".

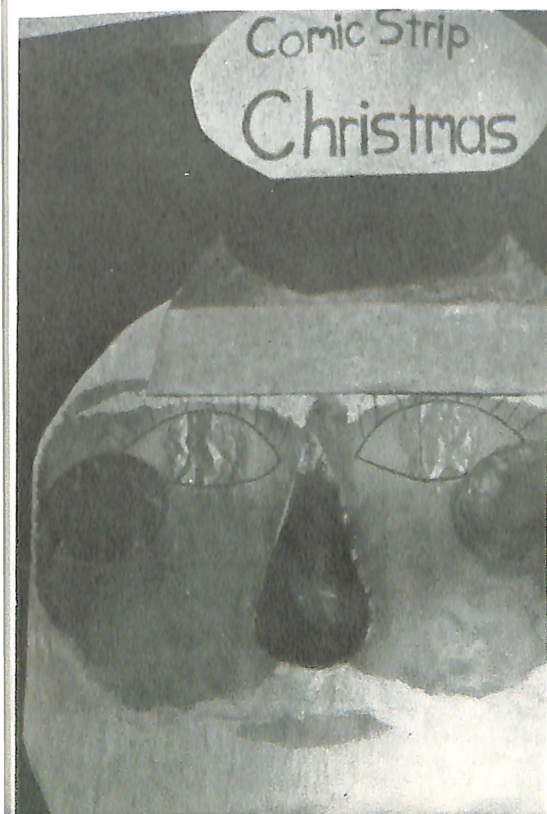

Once again Mr. Carrington's classes put on another fantastic Christmas party. Walking in the door was like entering the childhood fairytale of "Alice in Wonderland," recreated. Once inside you could see a fiery volcano, part of an Hawaiian Christmas that took the first prize. The fun didn't stop there. Around the room was Santa, Gumby, Pokey and friends, a gingerbread house and a mountain to climb on. The music, the dancing, the laughter and friends— all through the party the fun did not end.

Why does Mr. Carrington do this every year? What does it have to do with Math? "It has everything to do with math," replies Mr. Carrington. The exercise is a challenge to the students. In his opinion there is a lot more education than what is in books. The students all agree that the Christmas party is a fun challenge not to mention that it is a break from their regular math routine.

4. Jolly Old St. Nick in a comic strip Christmas. 5. A volcano in the Little Theater?

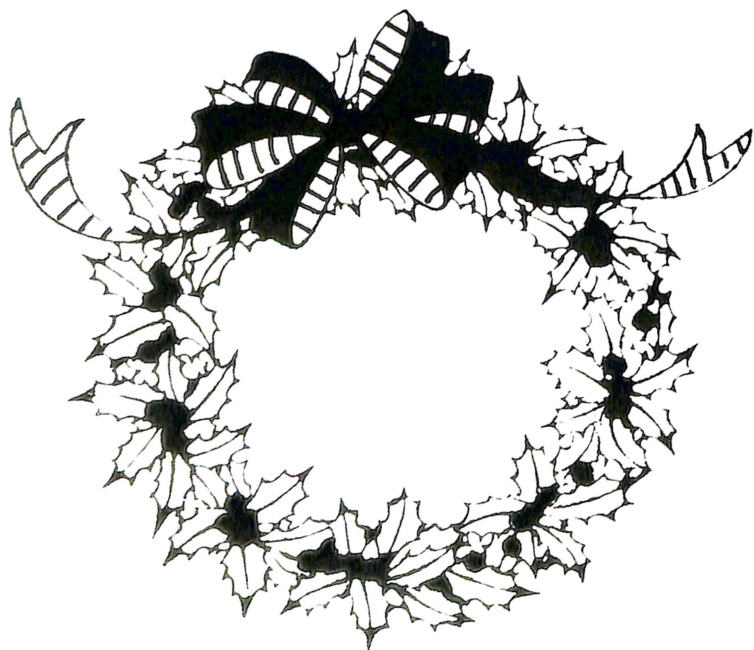

One of the most memorable nights of the 1983-84 school year may have been the Christmas Ball. This was the only formal dance other than the Prom. The Christmas Ball is traditionally sponsored by the Junior Class. They take full responsibility for all the arrangements necessary for the success of the Ball. The Class of 1985 proved that the responsibility was not too large for them.

The Christmas Ball was held on December 9, 1983 at the Vacaville Community Center. Music was provided by a disc jockey named Mike Segmiller. Food and punch was available at the dance, however, it didn't last too long. Pictures were taken at the dance by Mary Cornelison and before the dance at Bob Hoenig studios.

It was quite obvious that all who attended had a great time. Quite a miraculous change took place that night. Students who were used to dressing up in school clothes took on a completely different image in their formal attire. The night went on; couples talking, laughing, dancing, having the best time of their lives. The thought of it ever having to end seemed unbearable. The last few songs were played. Like all good things must, the Christmas ball came to an end, never to be forgotten.

Winter Wonderland

Winter Wonderland

1. DeOna Bluford, and Teresa Martin take one last look before entering the gala affair. 2. Holly Nowak and Dave Davis look like they're having a ball. 3. Look out John Travolta here we come. 4. Let's dance, put on your red shoes and dance the blues away. 5. Troy Wheeler and his date are taking a brake from the dance. 6. Faith Porier and Kevin Parkhurst one of the many handsome couples at the ball.

1. A computer class hard at work. 2. Mrs. Balogh figures out the daily attendance.

Computers On Campus

Computers play an important role on campus. Classes that teach subjects such as computer literacy help prepare our students for the outside world. Vaca High also has classes that teach office techniques and accounting. However, teaching students the "how-to" of a computer is not the only function of computers on campus.

Computers also help out in the front office with attendance. How? Attendance is taken on a santron sheet which is run through the computer. Attendance records are then filed away inside the memory banks of the computer. The counseling office also uses computers for an abundance of things. Class schedules and student information are two of the things that the counseling computer is used for.

On the other end of campus there is the Career Center. They have a print out that is hooked up to the main computer in Fairfield. Through this set up we can find out what careers we are best suited for.

Computers serve many purposes on campus. Without computers, Vaca High could not function as we know it. So to all the computers, and to all the people who run them, keep up the good work.

1. Mandy Williams works on the computer. 2. Paula Reissman wonders, "How do I do this?" 3. And your computer date is . . . 4. Tina Whitlow finds out her career choices.

What has dress-ups, activities and excitement? Vacaville High Schools Winter Festival! Winter Festival lasted almost a week, February 7 through February 11, 1984.

On Tuesday the ski contest was held. Six members from each class stood in single file on two boards and moved (in a skiing motion) across the Senior Square to the finish line. This event was won by the seniors.

On Wednesday the seniors escaped with another victory. The chocolate eating contest was held during lunch then, when Yolanda Buchannon proved to be the most valuable player for that event.

Thursday, the air guitar and popping contest was held at lunch time. Many fantastic bands competed, the winners were determined by the amount of applause given by the audience. All the groups emerged winners as the whole contest was considered a tie.

On Friday a rally was held to bring out the true spirit of Vacaville High School. Saturday night was the Winter Festival Dance.

This year a different twist was added to Winter Festival. Traditionally a guy and girl from each class were voted in as King and Queen. This year, for the first time, a guy from each class was voted as Casanova (senior), Romeo (junior), and Heartthrob (sophomore). Then the guy picked his escort. The Senior Casanova was Kevin Harlow, who picked Chantelle Landaiche as his escort. The Junior Romeo was Chris Williams and his escort was Cindy Delorenzi. The Sophomore Heart-throb was Jeff Piazza with his escort, Cami Stitt.

1. It's "Twins Day" at Vaca High. 2. Craig Holdener and Brad Tyrell know how to give it their all. 3. The juniors race to come in second place. 4. The seniors go for the gold.

History has a way of repeating itself and this was no exception. Winter Festival was a huge success!

1983-84 IN REVIEW

What is current today will be history tomorrow. We would like to bring you a little history that was big news at one time or another during the past year. The popular songs, entertainers, fads, fashions, and the headlines that were splashed across newspapers are all part of what made this past school year.

PEOPLE

Queen Elizabeth's visit was definitely one to remember. She came to the United States but, unfortunately, during bad weather. She visited Sutters Fort with Governor Brown and met with President Reagan in Los Angeles. During her stay there was an unfortunate mishap. A man from the Secret Service and a man from the police department were killed in an automobile accident while guarding the Queen.

During the summer of 1983, the small town of Coalinga was the center of attention. This small dot on the map of California, just south west of Fresno in the San Joaquin Valley, was hit by a series of earthquakes. The town was left in a pile of rubble after the last of the quakes had left.

1983 was a great year for newcomer group "Culture Club" and their lead singer Boy George. When we first heard his voice singing, "Do You Really Want To Hurt Me?" it really stuck in our minds. When we saw his face for the first time it stuck on our minds and on the front cover of every schandle magazine around. Long, stringy hair, enchanting eyes?, and hot red lips are just a few things one could use to describe Boy George. Boy George's clothes were another big topic of conversation. He said he collected everything from funky hats to ballet tu-tus. One thing must be said for this man—he's got guts!

Princess Caroline recovered quite well after her mother's tragic death. She found herself a new beau, and keeping with tradition, she married another playboy. How many playboys does this put under her belt now?

Over the past year we have gained many a new face in the lines of politics, music and the movie industry. Unfortunately, we have lost many great people also. A few greats are as follows: Barney Clark, the recipient of an artificial heart; Jack Dempsy, one of the prize fighters of yesteryear; and Dennis Williams, the former drummer of the Beach Boys, drowned after diving off his boat. Also we must remember such faces as Frank Reynolds and Jessica Savich, of the news, and Yuri Andropov the communist leader of Russia, who dies at the age of 69. Let us not forget one very important man, Muddy Waters. He will always be known as one of the first founders of Rock-n-Roll.

Thirty-five years ago, a man by the name of George Orwell wrote a book entitled "1984". The book was about the world in 1984, based on the "Big Brother" idea. The government would have totally taken over by now, according to Mr. Orwell. Plus, everyone would have camaras and bugs installed in their homes. Privacy would be extinct. Luckily, Mr. Orwell was not a very good psychic and some of his predictions were incorrect. We still have privacy, but will we in the year 2084?

If there was a crowd surrounding the counter of your favorite toy store around Christmas time, chances were that either there was a fantastic sale going on, you were in the return line, or they just got a shipment of Cabbage Patch dolls. These funny looking dolls had appearances that were programed into a computer so that no two dolls would be alike, the same as no two human children are alike. The Cabbage Patch Kids were in the brainchild of Xavier Roberts of Cleveland, Georgia. He purchased an old doctors office, which he calls Babyland General Hospital, and began producing his "kids" and putting them up for adoption. The thought of adopting one's own Cabbage Patch Kid caught on and, suddenly, there you have it—the Cabbage Patch Doll craze.

During the past year there was an assassination attempt on the life of Pope John Paul II. Luckily, the Pope survived. However, this was not the ironic part of the story. Shockingly, the Pope went and visited his attacker. That took a lot of faith and forgiveness.

SPORTS

The Superbowl was a battle between the Washington Redskins and the Los Angeles Raiders. Since local fans still think of them as the Oakland Raiders, many people were pleased to see the Raiders win 42 to 14.

The World Series matched the Philadelphia Phillies against the Baltimore Orioles, two neighboring cities. After dropping the first two games, the Orioles came back to win the series.

In September of 1983, the Australia II became the first boat in 132 years to beat the United States in the 12 meter sailing events, the American Cup. The ecstatic Aussies can brag until the next race, when the U.S. will try to win the cup back.

There were so many exceptional athletes competing in the Olympics it was hard to single out one. Carl Lewis, the sprinter, had to be a dedicated and talented athlete in order to make the Olympic team. He is the holder of many track and field records and keeps striving for more.

POLITICS

Once again the year was stained by an assassination. Moments after his return to Philippines on August 21, 1983, opposition leader Benigno S. Aquino Jr., escorted by three security officers, was shot in the head at Manila International Airport. One million mourners attended his funeral. An investigator appointed to investigate the killing, resigned amid charges that he was a rubber stamp for President Ferdinand Marcos. President Marcos, incidentally, had military cronies who are suspected of complicity in Aquino's death.

The U.S. went into Beruit to keep the peace. We had no intentions of harming anyone. Yet, for some reason one man was chosen to ride a suicide mission. His orders? Drive a truck rigged with explosives through the front gate of the military base and into the U.S. marine barracks. Result? Close to 300 U.S. marines killed in an explosion caused by one man. An explosion that, most likely, could have been avoided had we been more prepared. Since this incident, we have increased security at places of major importance to try and prevent this catastrophe from reoccurring. This incident along with the fall of the Lebanese government led to the withdrawal of American troops from Lebanon.

In the year of 1983, shortly after the Beruit bombing, the attack on Granada occurred. Many of our American citizens were attending medical college when the U.S. invaded the island and pushed the Cubans out. Fidel Castro wanted to infiltrate the island and build an airstrip for military aggression. The U.S. did not want to see that happen, so we took the measures necessary to stop them. For the time being, the Cubans are out of Granada and things have returned to normal.

In the past we have heard that cancer can be caused by everything from cigarettes to breathing the air. During January of 1984, muffin mix products by several companies were pulled from the shelves because they contained EDB. EDB is a cancer causing chemical used as a preservative.

Jews, women, Blacks, the handicapped, and the Beach Boys were some of the people offended by certain statements made by James Watt during the past year. These statements and others caused much controversy. What did he have against the Beach Boys? According to Mr. Watt the Beach Boys were hard rock and were corrupting the youth of America. First lady Nancy Reagan stood to debate Mr. Watt's comments and defended the Beach Boys. James Watt was finally put in the position of either being fired or resigning because of his outspoken opinions. He resigned.

ENTERTAINMENT

Pat Benatar, The Talking Heads, Madness, Michael Jackson, Cindy Lauper and countless others had videos on MTV this past year. MTV was hosted by 5 DJ's: Martha Quinn, J.J. Jackson, Mark Goodman, Alan Hunter, and Lena Blackwood. We came to know their faces as the hosts and hostesses of the 80's. They brought us one of the most watched TV shows of the year.

Over the summer of 1983, Paramount Pictures released Flashdance, the Movie, starring newcomer Junifer Beals. This was more than just a movie that came and went. It left behind a line of tattered clothes, oversized shirts and a feeling that made you want to get up and dance. The Flashdance movie became the Flashdance craze that lasted well throughout the year.

Computers came in full force this year, especially for teens. After the movie "War Games" many teens were trying to break the code to schools, office buildings, and military plants. What will computers come to? Right now computers are a big part of everyone's life. They are used for everything from playing games to providing for our national defense. With the growing importance of computers, will we eventually have no use for the work of people?

Over the past year there was a movie The Day After that stirred up a lot of thought and fears. This film showed what it might be like if we were to face a nuclear war. Many families were deeply affected by this thought. There, of course, was a lot of controversy, but the film opened our eyes to the reality and possibility of an all out nuclear war. Hopefully we will never have to face such an occurrence. But this film tried to make aware that our age group has a great deal of say regarding this matter. We are the future generation.

This year was a year of success for superstar singer Michael Jackson. After "Billy Jean" in early 1983, Jackson just kept getting better. He had hit after hit with "Beat It", "P.Y.T.", "Human Nature", and of course "Thriller". Jackson even made a short movie/video for his hit song "Thriller". He won 8 awards at the American Music Awards, all well deserved. Through 1983-84, Jackson proved to the world that he was the best in the fields of music, dancing and acting. His unique style will make him immortal in the minds of our generation.

Sports

Football, Tennis, Basketball, Track, Badminton, Swimming, Golf and Powder Puff Football are just a few of the sports that were offered at Vaca High. Sports all have quite a bit in common. They require special abilities, coordination, quick reflexes and motivation. Throughout the year these qualities were exhibited by the players of all the sports. The Bulldogs found that with these qualities, and a lot of dedication, the playoffs were great.

Cross-country had an excellent season. The boys took first place in the MEL; the girls placed in sections. The spikers from Vacaville really showed all the teams in the MEL how to play. Both the Varsity and Junior Varsity Volleyball teams took an impressive first place in the league. Varsity football made an outstanding comeback. The Bulldogs were one of the three teams to make it to the Northern California sectional playoffs.

All the effort put forth by these teams helped to make Vacaville High School a well respected name in High School athletics.

JV Bulldogs Break Even

Tension in the brisk winter air, screaming voices surround the field, and the invisible electricity that weaved in and out of the stands - what did it all mean? Yes, it was football season and the Vaca High JV football team was the team that stirred these emotions. The fans watched the players closely, some wondered how they were going to score the next touchdown, others mentally chose the varsity players of next year and still others cheered their team on.

Who will be the team members that will carry on as Vaca High varsity bulldogs? One won't know until next season. However, Coach Green said that some of his star players for the '83 season were: Nick Beruemen, Doug Bourgeois, Mike Ciccareli, Larry Cunningham, John Espino, Milton Hucks, Scott Lopez, Jason Stratton, and Kevin Taliaferro.

As one may be aware, Thursdays were the days when special awards were passed out to the players. It was a honor for the team members to receive an award, except for one, the boxhead award. This award was created in 1982. It was for the players that didn't do something dumb, but rather unbelievably dumb. The recipients of this award will go unnamed because it was an award they'd rather forget.

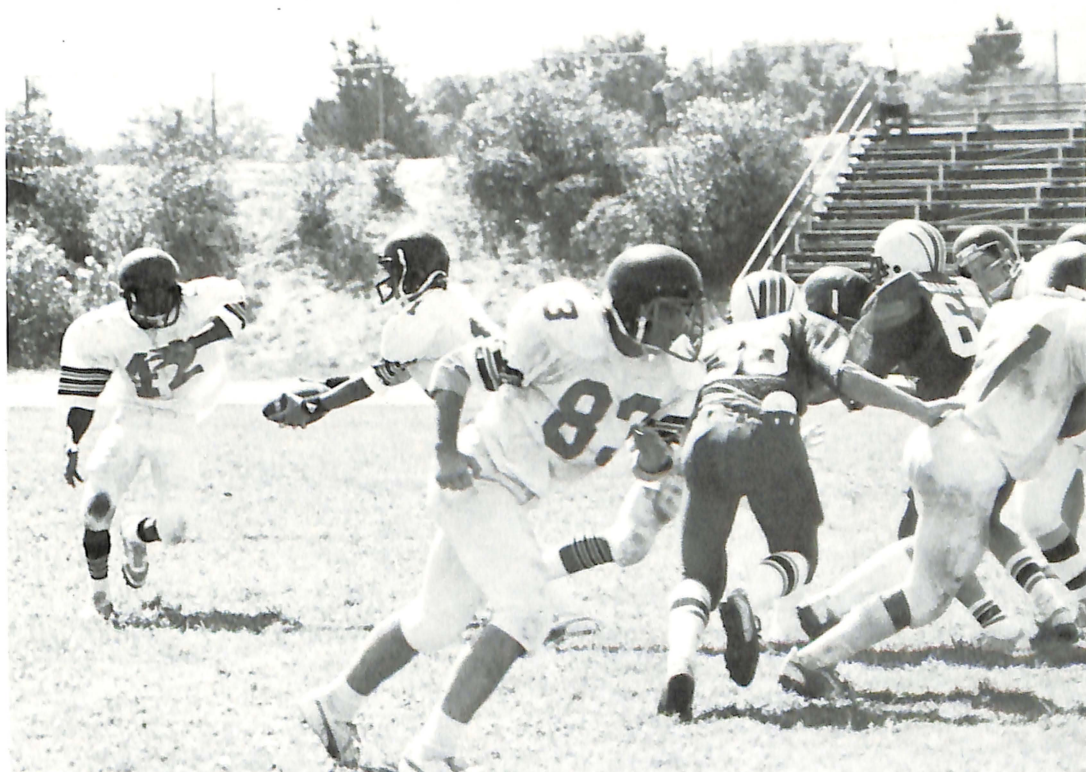

1. Joe Rapisarda runs for the down. 2. The J.V. team ready for action. 3. "Here's to you Vacaville," says Todd Harris.

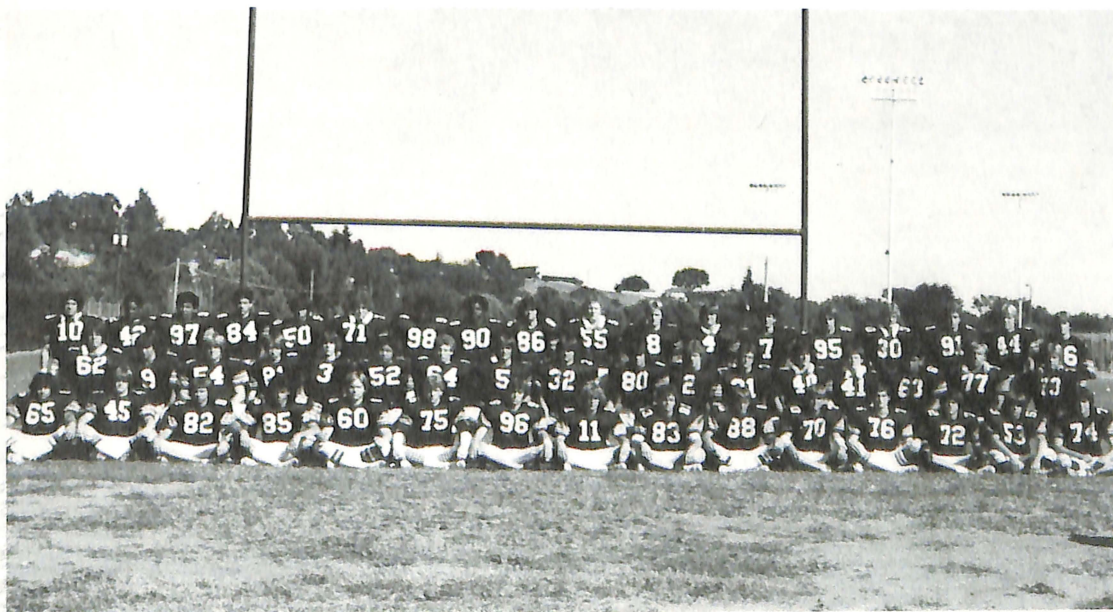

All in all Coach Green felt that the team did pretty good and although they may not have achieved success on paper they did improve on their personal goals. Coach Green quoted, "You want to have an experience you can look back on with fond memories, and I feel we've accomplished that."

Coach Green wonders, "One more play. What next?" 2. On your mark, get set . . . tackle!

Varsity Bulldogs Make Play-offs

As most people know football season starts early in September. However, for the football players the season begins in mid-summer with hot, humid practice sessions. The sessions may start out quite enjoyable for the players. The returning players get to see their buddies from the year before and enjoy the sport of football. Before long the good natured sessions turn into long, treacherous workouts. This is where double sessions begin. Double sessions last for approximately two weeks. It is a never ending day for the Vacaville High football players with practices beginning at 9 in the morning and lasting until 12 in the afternoon. Football finds it's way back into their schedules at 5 in the evening, then finally slipping away for the day at 8 in the evening.

As said by head coach Tom Zunino,

1. Ron Reynolds stands in triumph while a Cordova player eats dirt. 2. Mark Tipton sees glory pass through his finger tips. 3. Get some, Rancho Cordova. 4. Our offensive line has Cordova's defense shaking in their boots. 5. Mike Lagarga eludes Vallejo defenders. 6. Charlie Ewing's kick is off before Cordova had a chance.

"The team works well together and plays excellent football. However, they are striving to improve their game." With a slow start in league play, the Bulldogs tried to come back as a tough competitor in the Monticello Empire League. Despite injuries to a few starting players, the team made an excellent comeback. The Varsity football teams record in league play improved steadily. In two consecutive games the Va-caville High School team completely destroyed their opponents without even allowing them to score.

Coach Zunino felt the backbone of the football team was the returning players, two of them were Juniors, Mark Johnson and Eric Snyder. The 12 returning Seniors were Andy Archer, Rich Ariza, Richard Berry, Jason Chandler, Charlie Ewing, Brian Jones, Mike Labarga, Ron Reynolds, Buddy Rodarte, Brad Rupert, Jay Smith and Mark Tipton.

With speed and coordination the Bulldogs proved themselves many times over. They accomplished many goals and proved that Vacaville High School's pride stood tall.

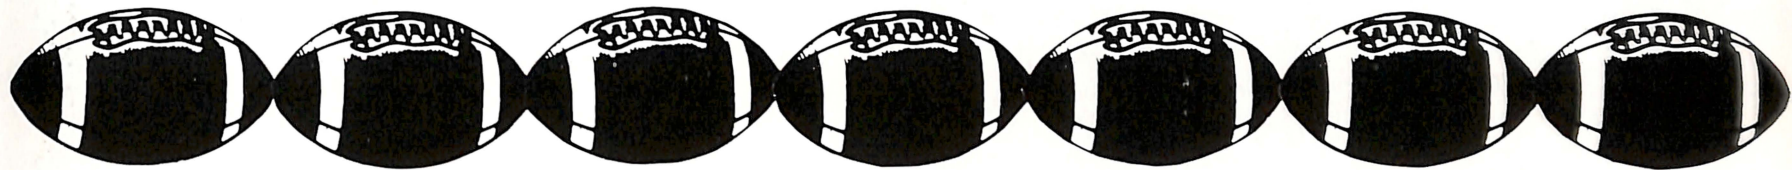

1. Eric Snyder exclaims to Woodland's number 34, "Your going down know sucker!" 2. Hey, Mark Johnson, how's it feel to be on the bottom? 3. Wha'd we do now coach?

4. As always Mike Labarga has the ball. 5. Rich Ariza, All-League champ, goes for the gold. 6. Ron Reynolds gets the new plan of attack from Coach Z.

Varsity Soccer Makes Goals

Soccer is quickly emerging as a major sport in America. Youth Soccer Leagues have popped up everywhere. Vacaville High School's Varsity Soccer team is in its infant state - growing in both quality and in spectator interest.

Although their record was not too good, the Bulldogs played competitively with the best of teams. Soccer Coach Chuck Korman wouldn't want to coach any other team. "The sign of a good team is that they play to their potential whether they win or lose," he said.

Led by senior starters Jerry McPheeters, Jaime Reyes, and Roger Smith, the Bulldogs worked hard to put together a good team. Vacaville Soccer will grow and the Bulldogs will be the team of the future.

1. Jim Evans heads the ball to Chris Hodgman and keeps the ball from Vintage. 2. Sean Lenihan passes the ball down field. 3. Jaime Reyes goes around a Vintage defender and heads for the goal.

JV Soccer Plays With Pride

1. Matt Friesen on the ball. 2. Jeff Harris controls the ball. Good Defense! 3. Vic Zavala stretches to pass the ball to Matt Friesen on a through pass.

What has 36 legs, kicks balls and leaves their clothes on the field. The answer is quite simple-the J.V. Soccer team. Vaca High's soccer team was constantly leaving their shoes, shirts, cleats, etc. Once one player even forgot his pants.

Now how could such a forgetful team play such good soccer? Well, for one the team had two very supportive coaches Mr. Korman and Mr. Reys, they coached and trained the players throughout the season until they could perform to the best of their ability. And that is exactly what the team did.

The soccer team had a good season and placed 3rd in the league. All of the players were important and played well. These players should be noted for their outstanding efforts: Bob Evanovsky, defensive full-back; Steve Hiatt, defensive fullback; Car-

"I'm looking forward to having a lot of the J.V. players return next year to play Varsity," says coach Korman. They were a fun team and they deserved all the support and credit that they received.

The players and the coaches feel that this year was just the beginning of a future filled with many championships.

Two Titles For Vaca High Spikers

Varsity Volleyball

Led by all-league selections Yvette Brown, Lori Friday, Devina Sloan, Lisa Nixon and Jeep Mendes, the Lady Bulldogs powered their way to the 1983 MEL Championship. With but a lone setback the Varsity finished with an 11-1 overall record. The team finished only one game shy of playing in the section finals following exciting victories over Nevada Union and Woodland in the first two rounds of the Tournament of Champions.

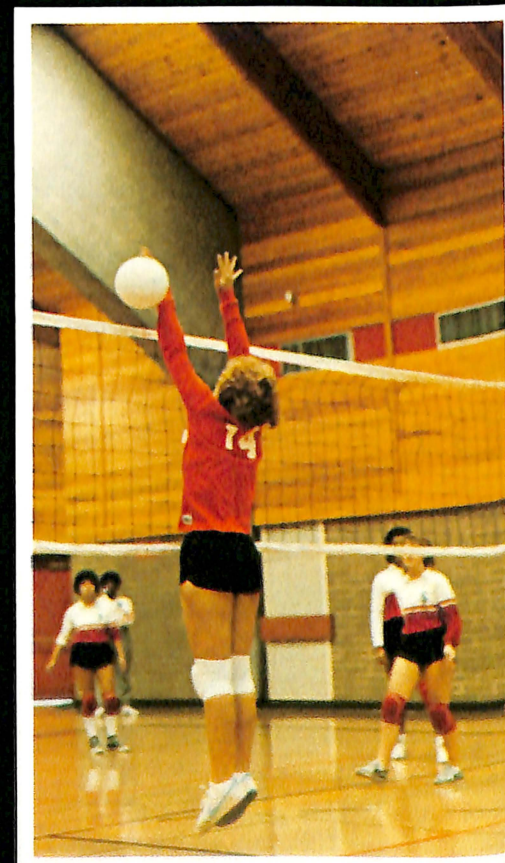

Team goals set in August were achieved by November. A willingness to work hard and long was rewarded with the best season in the school's volleyball history.

Team lunches and team secret gift exchanges, organized by Tina Helmts and Rebecca Villa, stimulated key victories over Napa. Pizza was the favorite lunch. Despite a slight loss of vertical jump, the season and the lunches were spectacularly successful.

Junior Varsity Volleyball

The J.V. Volleyball team achieved near perfection in the 1983 season. With only one loss the J.V. squad garnered an 11-1 league to finish alone on top of the M.E.L. The team was led by key hitters Kathy McDaniel and Ann Benjamin and supported by setters Janice Magaoay and Carolyn McSweeney. The Sophomore spikettes were easily the best team in the league. For the last three years the sophomores have finished with 10-2, 11-1 and 11-1 records. These three seasons correspond to the three years Mrs. Wettstein has been coaching. The team starts each year as a combination of Wood-Jepson players. By the end of the season, the junior highs were left far behind and the players were looking forward to their varsity seasons.

1. Devina Sloan crushes another winner. 2. Paulette Rudolph teams with Devina Sloan to form blocking wall - the first line of defense. 3. The coach worries, Diane stares, Tina gazes and Stephanie hitches.

Vacaville Sprints to Sections

"This year's cross-country squad was one of the most enjoyable I've ever experienced in my nine years as the Vacaville cross country coach," commented Coach Larsen of the Vacaville harriers. The 1983-84 harriers were at their best. Both the Varsity Boys and Varsity Girls posted a 6-0 record. At our home invitational the boys took first while the girls and JV placed second.

Joni Mooney led the Varsity Girls Team with an undefeated season. Dina Uldall, Tracy Jensen, Mary Baird, Nicole Nortier, Sarah Mote, Wendy Gardener, and Pam McNearney also assisted in the team advancing to the Northern California Cross-country Championships.

The Varsity Boys were led by James Garrett and Rodney Coker. Coker was the only member of the Varsity Boys squad to qualify for the Northern California Championships.

Vacaville Wrestlers Capture M.E.L. Title Again

Sweat, growls, yells and lots of muscles were just a few of the sights and sounds at the Vaca High wrestling meets this past year. As you watched the Bulldogs compete you could feel the tension in the air. The Bulldogs practiced for long, hard, grueling hours so that they could bring life and power to the competitions and bring their opponents down to the mat. They were continually striving for perfection.

Coach Nelson when asked to list some of his star wrestlers replied, "Derek Kuda, John Milligan, Mike Ciccarrelli, Monty Maxwell, Chris Shirar, Bob Powell, Bill Turgeon, and Eric Snyder were outstanding this year." Year after year Coach Nelson has had the task of breaking in new-coming sophomores. Luckily he has had his returning juniors and seniors to help him out. This year the returning seniors were Derek Kuda, Bob Powell, Rich Ariza, Jon Morris, and Craig Hightman. The wrestlers were broken down by weight class rather than by age. The weight classes were as follows: 98, 105, 112, 119, 128, 132, 138, 145, 154, 165, 175, and 191. So, as one can see, a little extra weight could bump one of these guys into a new weight class; therefore, they underwent rigorous exercise routines and stayed on strict diets to keep in the best possible condition.

Coach Nelson passed out spirit awards during the year. He also came up with sayings that he could yell out to the guys as they wrestled. "Zero air", "The pit", and "Feet, feet, feet" were a few of his favorite sayings. Jeff Kroenlin obtained the nickname "Super Kroen" during the season. The team always tried to have the utmost confidence and spirit during their matches. They went out on the mat believing they could win. It really paid off. They were very successful in the majority of their matches.

All in all, Coach Nelson was very pleased with the team. When asked for a quote he stated, "They were an excellent team which was well balanced and had high powered competition." The 1983/84 Bulldogs were most definitely an explosive wrestling team.

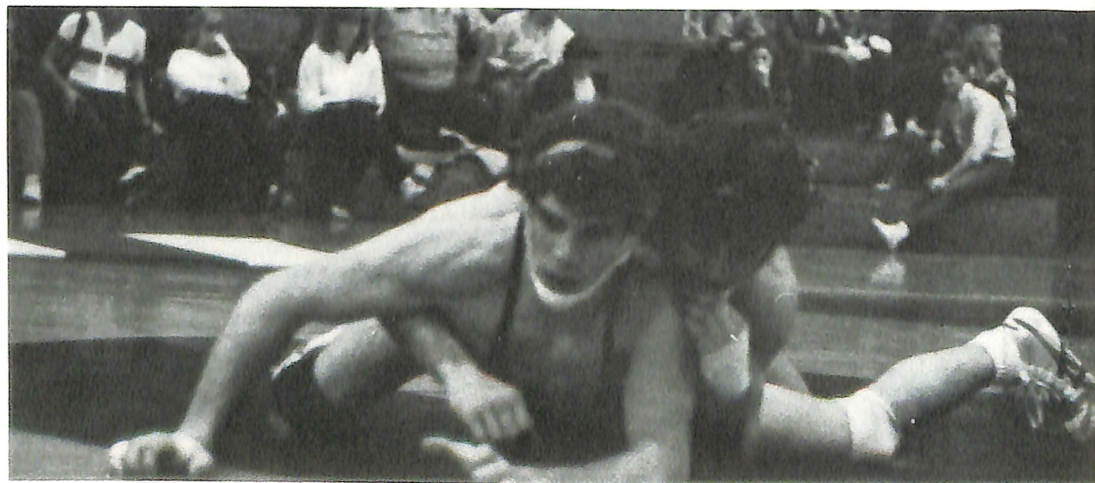

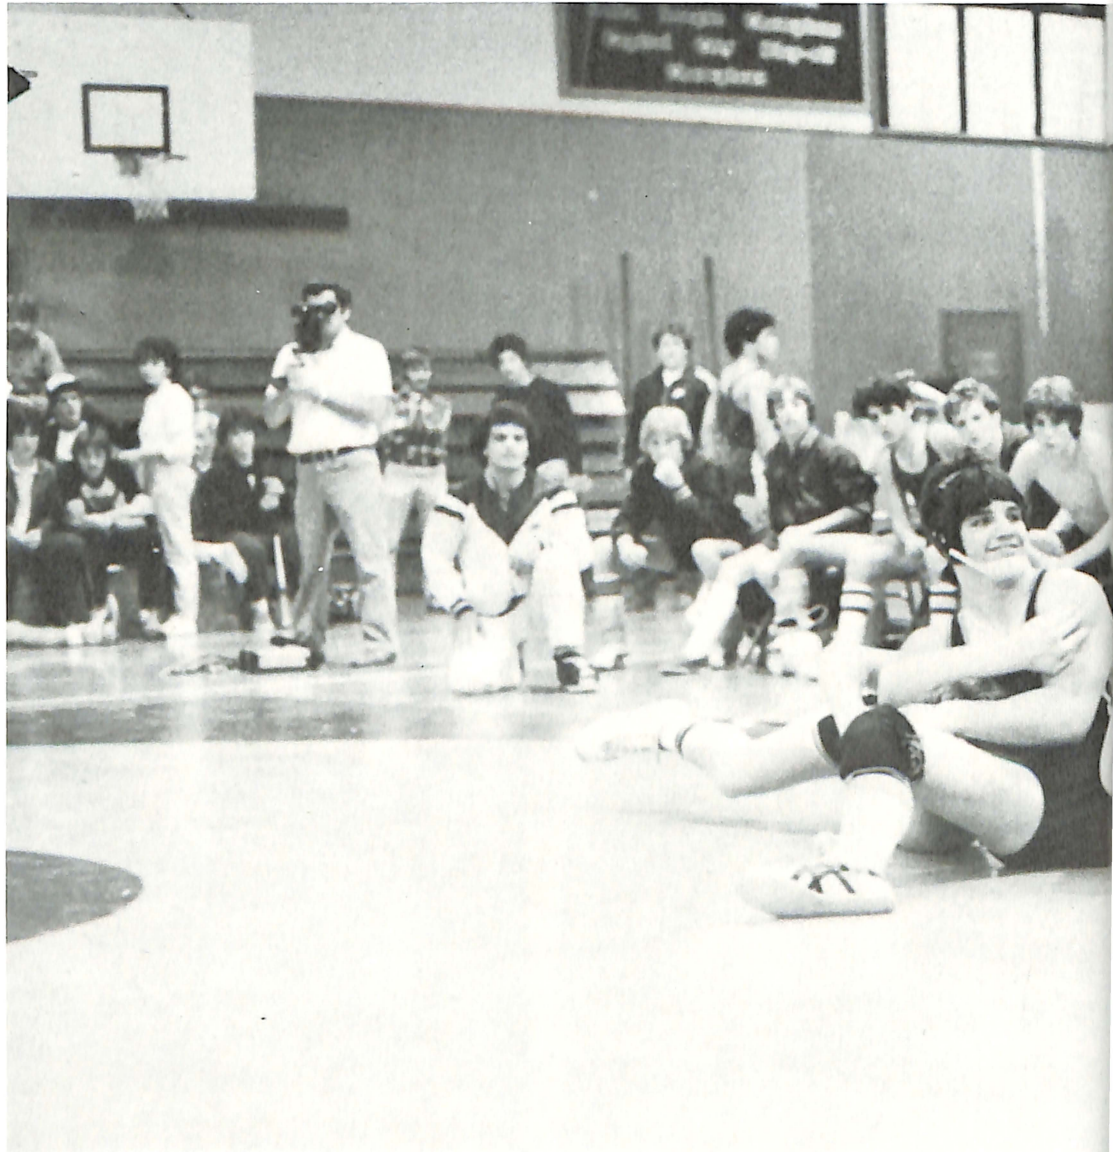

1. Eric Snyder leaves his opponent stunned and amazed. 2. Jeff Kroenlin preparing for a one on one match. 3. Rich Ariza takes some time out after a hard match. 4. A Vacaville Wrestler moves in for the victory.

During Vacaville High School's 1984 Varsity Boys Basketball Season many people made wise investments. What did they spend their money on? They went to see the Varsity team perform. Win or lose it was always a good game.

Coach Wright stated that they were a very unusual team. How so? They were unusual in the sense that they were so close and worked together. "This is especially odd for a high school team," commented Coach Wright. "Even before the season started they were all friends."

The Bulldogs were a hard working, fast moving team. They were determined to do well in everything. The fact that they had no players over 6 foot 3 inches heightened their ambition. Wright said, "I had an enjoyable time working with them. It was a good combination team. We had leadership from the four seniors and enthusiasm from the juniors and sophomores."

Sophomores? On varsity basketball? That's not too unusual; however, Sabre Bowden and Don Murasko, both sophomores, were starters! Coach Wright added, "It was a must to have these two on the team. Had it not been for the junior high system we would have had them playing varsity ball last year. They were very mature and we couldn't have done as well without them."

As Bix Nortier summed it up, "We wanted our opponents to worry about their game with Vaca High. We're not cell-dwellers anymore!"

Sharp Shooters

Coach Judy Wettstein had it all this year? Her Varsity Girls Basketball team was primed with expertise and experience. She, of course, was blessed with eight returning basketball players.

When we asked for her star players, coach Wettstein replied quickly, "We have no star players. We are a team. It takes the entire team of ten to play this game." We didn't argue. The seniors on the squad were Dina Uldall, Yvette Brown and Lori Friday, all veterans from last year's MEL team.

The varsity team won the Benicia Cage Title, performing magnificently. All through the year they worked hard. The League had gotten tougher and becoming MEL champs seemed slim.

1. Lori Friday makes another outstanding play. 2. The Varsity Girls get some quick pointers from Mrs. Wettstein. 3. Boom Boom shoots the hoop."

4. Devina Sloan "skies it."

Varsity Girls Basketball Mrs. Wettstein, Holly Taylor, Devina Sloan, Robyn Hawkins, Sheri Warlick, Brown, Yvette Brown, Lori Friday, Kelly Eustler, Tina Dina Uldall, Stacy Smith, Jeep Mendes.

To be the best you have to work continuously. The Junior Varsity Basketball program at Vaca High is a good example of this. It prepares players for varsity play. Our JV program brings together the best from both Jepson and Wood Junior Highs. Their Sophomore year is the first year they play on the same team and they adjust quite well.

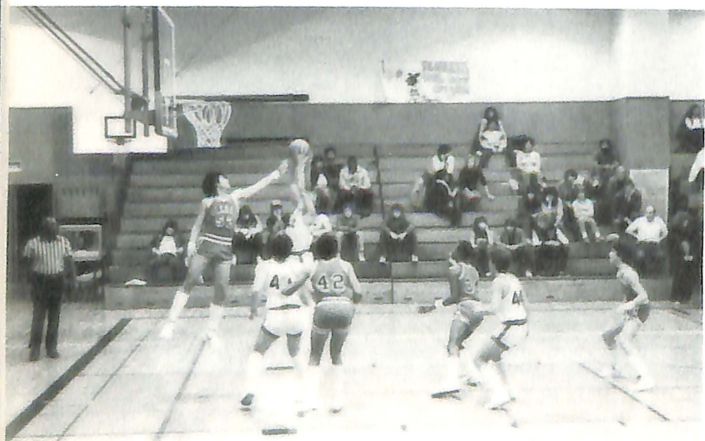

This year the JV boys team was full of determination and effort. All the players put forth the utmost effort. Lance Holt was noted to be the most improved player. Joe Rapisarda had the most rebounds and Doug Bourgeois was one of the leading scorers. Among the steadiest players was Shawn Bush.

The girls JV team was on top of things all season long. They were a very steady, well skilled team. Don't let it ever be said that girls sports aren't equivalent to boys. These girls know how to play the game with style.

Coach Baker feels his star players are

Jackie Tables, Kathy McDaniel and Paulette Rudolph. Baker said that Nicole Noriter is his steadiest player, but every player, of course, is essential for victory. The team relied on the buddy system to keep them close and playing well. Coach Baker said "Girls are a lot different to work with than boys. They are an enjoyable challenge." Coach Baker must have been up to the challenge because girls basketball is becoming a popular sport at Vacaville High School.

Future Pro's?

It was a full contact game. Hard core defense against speedy offense. Passes were completed and points scored. So what made this game so different from all the rest of the games that were played at Harold Youngblood Stadium? The game was between senior and junior girls! On the night of November 22, 1983, a great role transformation occurred. The football players were girls and the drillteam and cheerleaders were boys.

The senior team was made up of twenty-six girls, while the junior team had seventeen members. The teams were coached by male volunteers of the same grade.

The coin toss went to the seniors, and the game began. The quarters were eight minutes long. Early in the second quarter the seniors ran away with the first touchdown of the game. At halftime the score was 6-0 in favor of the seniors.

During the twelve minutes of half-time, both teams recessed for pep talks from their coaches. The very "unique" cheer leaders and drillteam performed.

The score remained unchanged in the third quarter, however, early in the fourth quarter the juniors tied the score 6-6. The score was the same when the gun went off. Neither team could settle for a tie so the game went into overtime. Each team was given four downs. The team to score or gain the most yards won. The seniors went first and scored on the second play. The juniors took their downs and managed a touchdown on the fourth play. Rain began to fall and the game was called a tie, 12-12, nothing won or lost by either team.

Simply Smashing Tennis

This year the Vacaville High School Girls Tennis Team came within an eyelash of winning the league championship. Team member Julie Hatcher, a freshman, won the league singles. Members Jennifer Allen and Karen Adams won the league doubles.

Coach Tom Ray tried to emphasize the importance of every single point during the season. He taught the team that determination was a necessity for victory. The entire team supported one another throughout the season and displayed the determination and the confidence to win.

The whole season came down to the final set in the final match against Vintage. The loss to Vintage and the nearness of league victory only served to wet the teams appetite for the 1984-85 season.

Getting Into The Swing Of Things

The Vacaville High School Boys Tennis Team had an unusual amount of charisma this year. They gave us a taste of their talent, and versatility. Bob Evanosky commented, "It's a very young team but there's a lot of potential there. Mr. Miller is a good coach; he has a lot of knowledge." Eric Brown added, "I think we'll get better through the years. We need more practice in some areas but we're a determined team." Tony Martinez summed it up, "I think we're a strong team and everyone gets along and knows each other. With a little work, the doubles teams could have a big effect on the outcome of the season."

The 1984 Varsity Baseball team underwent a major change from years past. When Mr. Boele announced he wouldn't be coaching baseball in the 1984 season, a new coach had to be appointed the result: Mr. Fernandez (the long time Junior Varsity Coach) was to be the coach for the varsity team.

The team was composed of eight seniors, five returning from the 1983 season, and eight juniors, two of them were on the 1983 varsity team as sophomores. "There is a mixture of seniors and juniors, but everyone gets along well," said Ron Reynolds.

The team was well disciplined, and it showed game after game. Vacaville's offense was always impressive, while on defense it seemed as if they never made the same mistake twice. With all the talent on the Vacaville team it was impossible to have an unsuccessful season. When we asked Charlie Ewing what he thought of the baseball team this year he said, "Once we got our priorities straight and started to concentrate on team work our effort really showed in our games."

JV Softball, Stupendous

The Vacaville High J.V. Softball Team worked very hard during the 1984 softball season. They were recognized as a very determined team. According to Cindy Sunderman one reason for this was because, "Coach Mumaugh is a very good coach." Cindy also added that she and the rest of the team could have done without all the "extra loops", which is their word for running extra laps. Softball was not all that was brought into the lives of the players. The memory of the 1984 Softball team will not easily be forgotten. One fond memory was that of the dent put into Mrs. Mumaugh's Cadillac by a foul ball. Overall, it was a very productive season.

Hard Hitting JV's

The 1984 Vacaville High School Junior Varsity Baseball Team got off to a good start. The long hours of practice showed through in their performance. Early in the season first baseman and pitcher Don Murasko remarked, "I feel we have a very strong team. There's a lot of talent." Todd Clough a catcher and outfielder commented, "I think we're an excellent team because every member has such good potential. We work together as a team not as individuals."

With new players and a new coach the team felt no pain. Mr. Pierson took over for

Mr. Fernandez as the J.V. baseball mentor for the first year.

The team kept a strong and steady pace throughout the season. Hopefully these players will have kept the same pace when they return as juniors on the varsity team.

The 1984 Varsity Softball Team was a young team with tremendous potential. "As they mature as a team, they should be very successful," stated coach Jody Wara. The returning varsity players were Lori Friday and Dina Carrington. The alumni of the 1983 softball team were a very big asset to the team because they had the experience of previously being on a varsity squad. Although the juniors did not have as much experience as the seniors, they all contributed to the team. This season was very different from the last because good weather got them off to a very productive start. Throughout the season they showed enthusiasm about the sport. They showed Vacaville fans and peers that they were not just another softball team.

Being on the swimming and diving team may have been a lot of fun but it also took a lot of work. For example two days a week there were morning practice. At 5:30 in the morning the Vaca High swimming and diving were out practicing in weather so cold that there was steam rising from the pool. However, all their polar bear swims paid off, they pulled together and showed the spirit of Vaca High.

Taking It In Stride

In the years past the Vaca High Track team has their problems getting started because of the bad weather. This year there was a complete turn around in the weather. Sunny skies offered a quick start into the season.

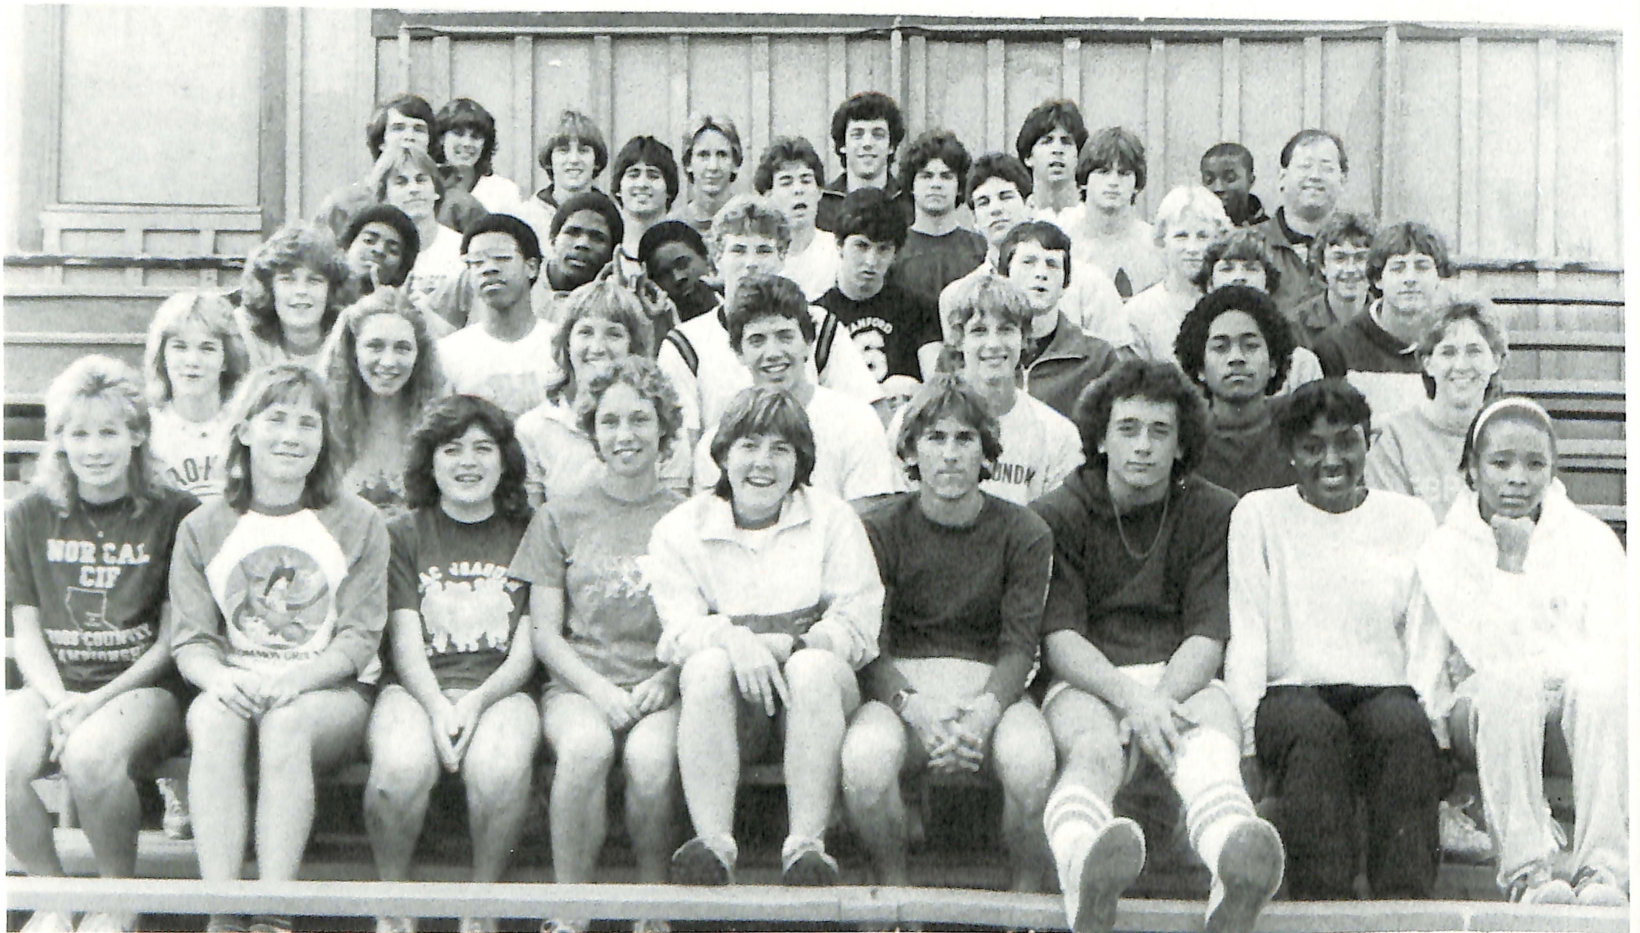

There are actually three separate teams involved in track: Varsity Boys, Varsity Girls and J.V. Boys. Headed by Mr. Larsen, Beth Graham and Mr. Ferguson the team was very successful.

Track is as much an individual sport as it is a team sport. In this way it allows each player to show his or her full potential. As said by Mark Lomtong "coming in first is nice but it's even better because it helps the team look good and it makes Vacaville High School better all around."

With the passing of years the team has lost as well as gained many good runners. With this in mind, the track team should be very successful in years to come.

Birdie Bashers

Working with a group of seventeen girls was not an easy task, but it was one undertaken by Gail McNally. The girls on the Vacaville High School Varsity Badminton Team relied on Mrs. McNally for support and coaching ability throughout the season. Each victory was one that was hard earned and well deserved. The girls put in many hours of practice and matches, but in the end it all paid off. These memories will never be erased.

Vacaville's "Fore" Golf

Vacaville High School's Golf Team has a history of great success. This past year was no exception. Mr. Trolinger's standards were very high, he taught the team that every birdie and bogey would matter, together he and the team set and reached many goals. With ten players, two of them returning seniors, the team showed off their skill and determination. As said by Byron Cone, "Mr. Trolinger had a lot of patience working with us. Everyone worked well together and had a great time."

Organizations

What makes school life more interesting? Getting involved! Many organizations at Vacaville High School are set up to do just that— get students involved. This last year there was a large assortment of clubs and organizations to choose from. The organizations were established for everyone of all interests, from career oriented students to those who just wanted to have fun. The organizations brought fellow students closer together, taught them to work with one another to achieve common goals, and gave them a feeling of accomplishment.

Without the help of the advisors, many of the clubs wouldn't be possible, so a great deal of thanks is owed to the teachers for their time and effort.

This year the Vaca High Cheerleaders "made it great." Their determination, skill and effort stood out clearly in their performances.

The Varsity Cheerleaders were lead by Nichelle Maxie, captain, and Elaine Mayberry, co-captain. The Junior Varsity Squad was led by Marisa DePianto and Rhonda Burke, captains.

The cheerleaders at Vaca High were always there to support the school. One thing the cheerleaders didn't like was the constant stereotyping they received. A closer look at these "rah rahs" revealed students high in academic achievement, members of the student council, and participants in other activities around which the school revolved. The cheerleaders and all of the pep squad seemed to be the most outgoing people on campus.

Our cheerleaders received the Unity Award at the USA Spirit Camp last summer. They were noted for being the most spirited. Vaca High was fortunate to have such a talented group of people. Without them life would certainly have been dull.

Mix up a little music, a little crazyness and a lot of spirit and you wind up with Pom Pon girls and Mascots. The Pom Pon captain was Paulette Reissman. The Varsity mascot captain was Teresa Obetz and the J.V. mascots were Antonella Timmons and Kristie Vick.

The Pom Pon girls received a superior trophy at the USA Spirit Camp over the summer. Both the J.V. and the Varsity Mascots won the title of "Super Mascots." With all that talent and spirit there was no way we could go wrong. The Pom Pon girls and Mascots helped raise our school spirit immensely with their dance routines and crazy antics. How could we ever forget Antonella and Kristie's home cheer. They did there best to raise our spirits. They're stuck on Bulldogs and so are we!

Varsity Mascots Dianne Eldridge (see no evil), Susan Parkhurst (hear no evil), Teresa Obetz (speak no evil).

Vacaville High School's award winning drill team has done it again. The team pulled through another year leaving audiences stunned and amazed with their outstanding performances. The team performed during halftime at football and basketball games.

The life of a drill team member was not just the glorious minutes on the field, but a lot of hard work. To get into the squad was an accomplishment in itself. On the first day of the week-long try-outs, all of the girls who couldn't do the splits or kick over their heads were cut. Perhaps this is one of the reasons why they maintained such an excellent reputation. Practice every day after school helped to keep the girls in tip-top condition for performances.

The reputation was known as far away as Mexico, where the drill team was invited. The girls were gone for a week, enjoying the sun, the shopping, and (the reason they were there in the first place) the dancing. The trip was partly paid for by the giant M&M's sale sponsored by the members.

Much of the credit is due to the backbone of the team, Mrs. Plastino. Mrs. Plastino, the drill team advisor, maintained discipline, appearance, and proper decorum. Captain Paula Reissman and co-captain Vicky Gill were responsible for the fantastic choreography that was so crucial.

The Wizard of Oz

1. The Oz mission is completed and Dorothy is on her way home.

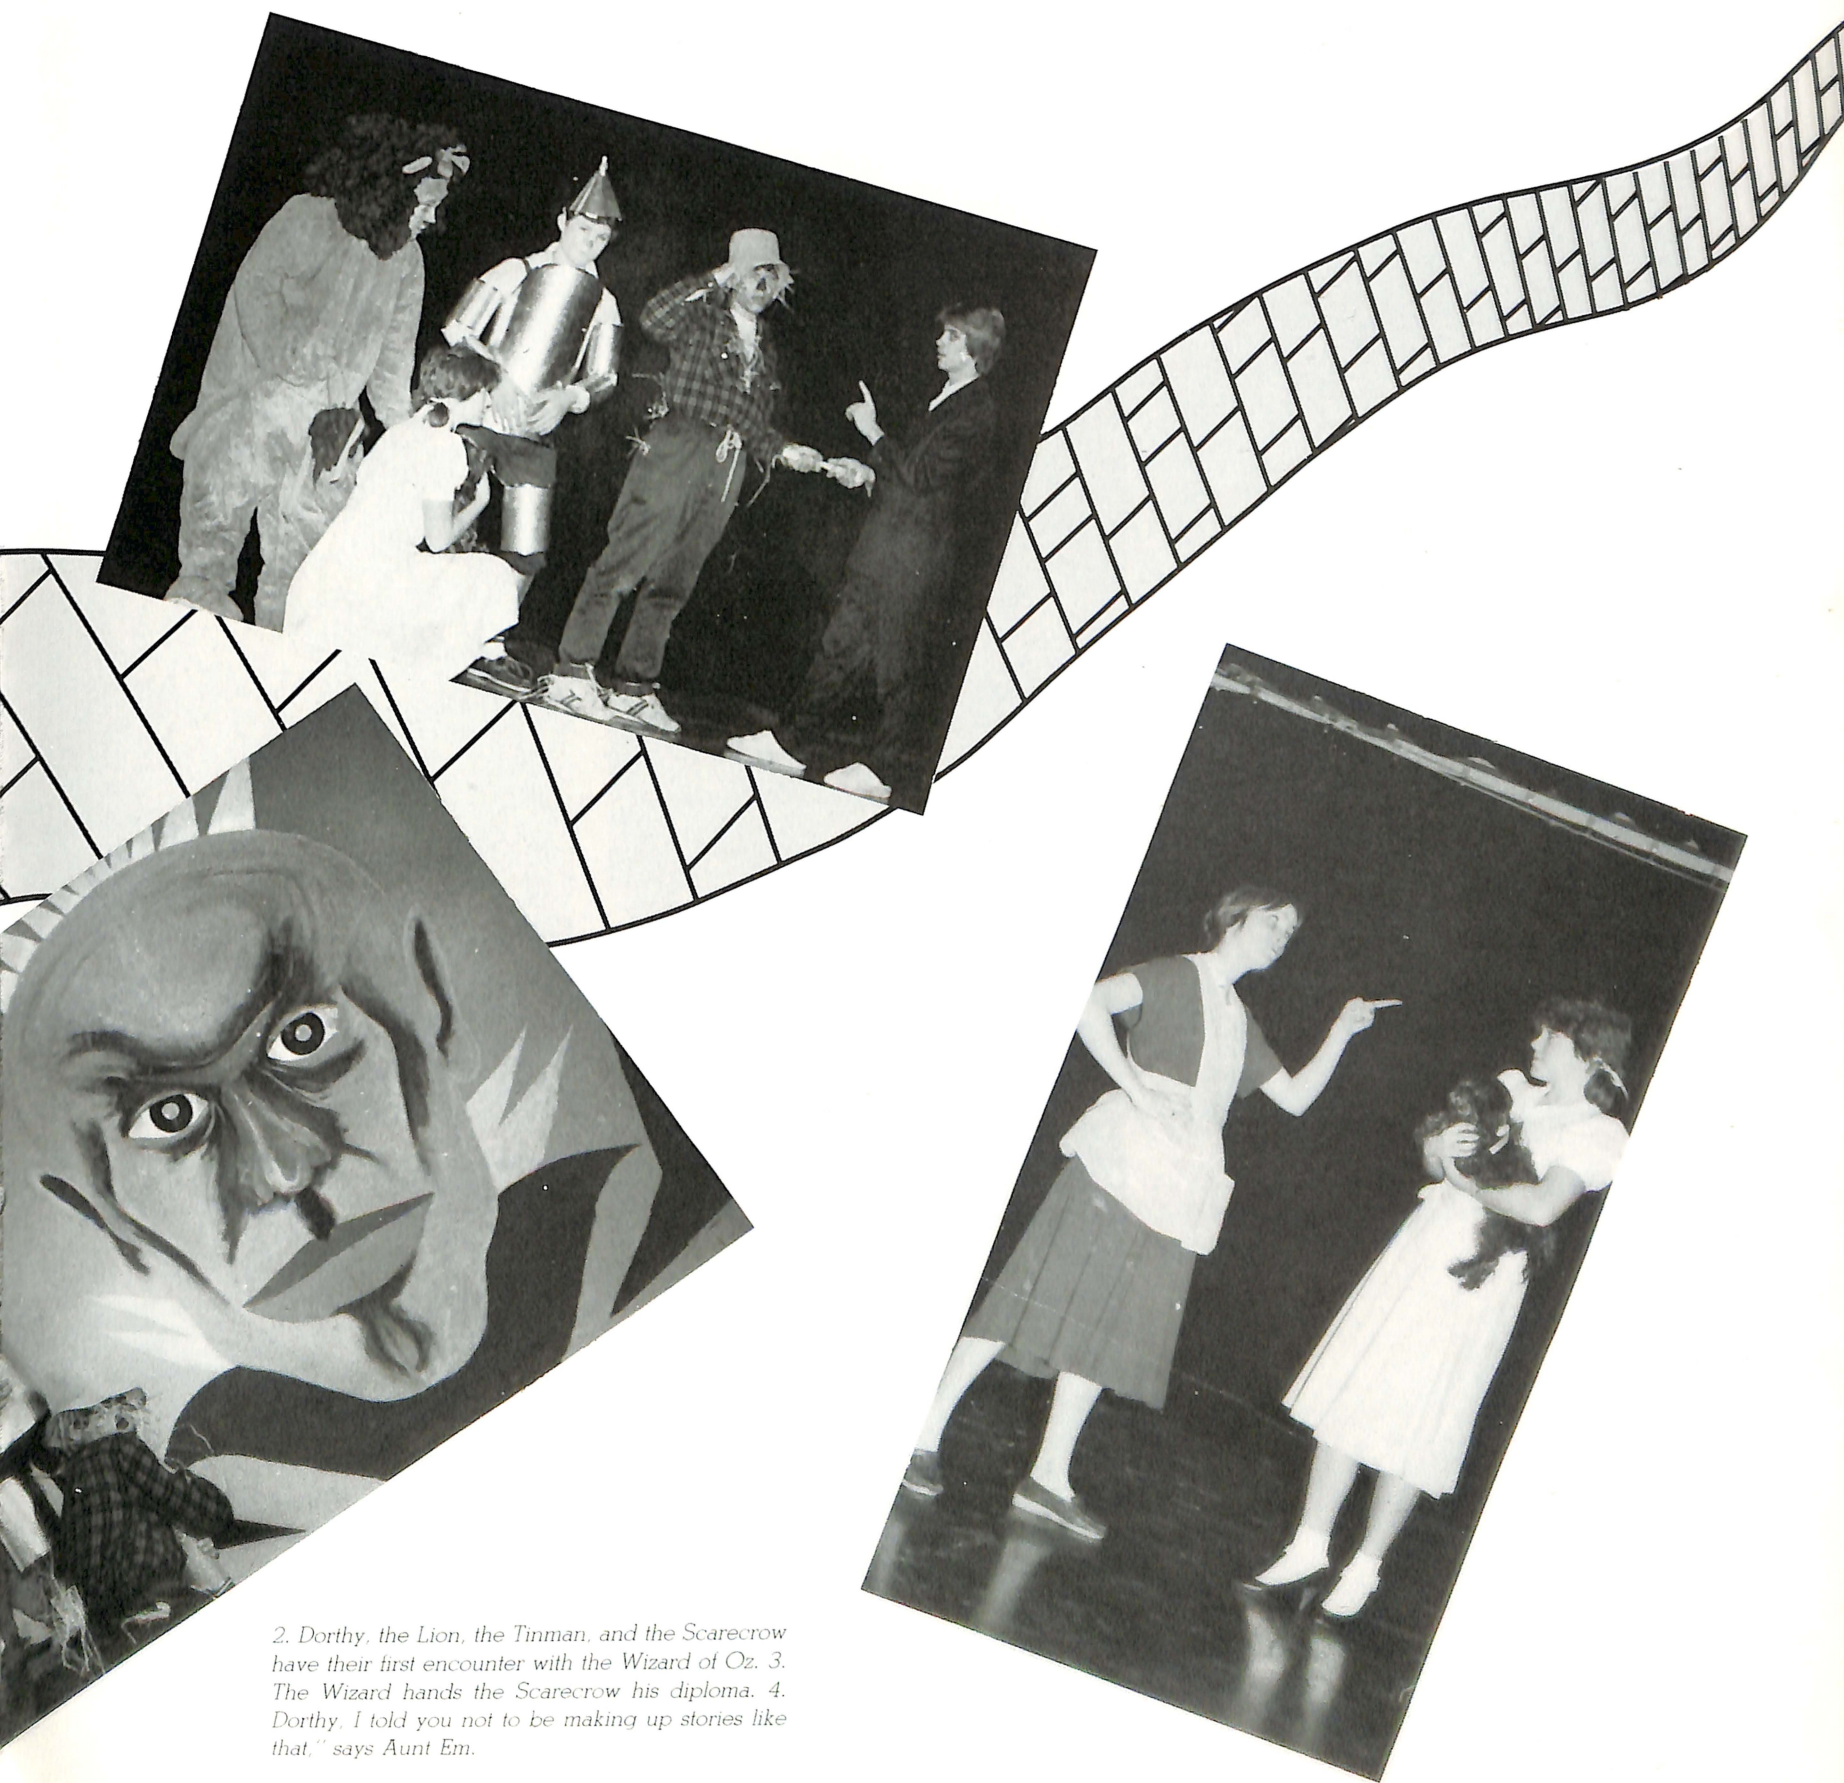

Follow the yellow brick road to the Land of Oz via Vacaville. Your tour guide will be Dorothy, who was portrayed by Tammy Cowie. On your tour you will be accompanied by your friends the Scarecrow, Allan Winslow; the Tinman, Brett Gray and the Cowardly Lion, Eric Johnson. Glinda, The Good Witch of the North, played by Brenda Hauser, will be your miracle worker for the trip. Not soon after your journey begins you will find yourself in the City of Oz where you'll have the opportunity to meet the Wizard, Dan Pannell. However, be careful to stay away from the Wicked Witch of the West, Marie Seymore.

Your coordinator for your journey will be Mary Betty Stevenson. She will see that you return home safely to Kansas and of course, Auntie Em, Denise Guertin.

As the yellow brick road winds to an end, the pieces start falling into place. You find yourself having to say good-bye to your friends and traveling companions. We hope you enjoyed your journey through the Land of Oz but always remember, there's no place like Vaca High.

2. Dorothy, the Lion, the Tinman, and the Scarecrow have their first encounter with the Wizard of Oz. 3. The Wizard hands the Scarecrow his diploma. 4. Dorothy, I told you not to be making up stories like that," says Aunt Em.

Our Town

Lights! Camera! Action! The Drams Club at Vaca High did it again. They have put on many plays throughout the year. This year the play was Our Town.

The Our Town cast was superb. With the use of only a few props they made everything come alive. The leading members of the cast consisted of Anne Elliott, Brett Gray, Peggy Hogar, Julie Harris, Mark Shettlesworth, Kelly Murphy and Paul DeLeon. Many other students assisted both on and off stage to make the play go.

Not all went well, however. The night of the dress rehearsal, the sound tape was stolen. Then when the tape was found the sound system went out. On opening night the cast had to work without a sound system. It was one thing after another.

The final result was worth it. The play was a success. They filled the Little Theater every night and the play was well received by all.

What is band? Band- a group of musicians; synonym: menagerie. At Vaca High our menagerie consists of a Symphonic Band, Wind Ensemble, Jazz Band, and Jazz Ensemble. There is also a Pep Band that is made up of members of the other bands. The purpose of the Pep Band is to perform during halftime at football and basketball games. While the Pep Band played during halftime, the Jazz Band was busy preparing for their Christmas Concert. The concert was great. All the bands planned for their big tour. This year they went to Northern California. In the past they have traveled to Canada and Disneyland.

Besides planning and performing concerts and tours what do band members do? Well, Roger Clark and Mitch Mitchem informed us that one of their favorite pastimes was building sculptures out of folding chairs and music stands. They also enjoyed passing out the wrong music, since they often disliked what Mr. Luther chose for them to play.

When asked to describe the band Chris Koelling stated that Band is not just a class but a "way of life". Steve Koelling, Rick Hovey and Paul Martin, who graduated in 1983, put their thoughts together and came up with this about Band: "The relationship between the instrument, musician and director is the art of 'music' and, as in all art, it came from the heart."

Music friendship, students, director, time and effort all add up to equal the Vacaville High School Band.

The Black Student Unity (BSU) of Vacaville High School is a very active club on campus. The BSU once again sponsored the annual Martin Luther King Day. The activity took place during third period on Friday, January 13, 1984. The rally began with a few words from Yolanda Buchanan, the BSU president. Tina Helmts, the ASB president said the opening prayer. The guest speaker was Reverend William

J. King, the pastor of the Shiloh Baptist Church. A poem called "Black Man" was read by Anna Zepeda and Allyson Christian. A musical selection was sung by Patricia Holt followed by Mr. Green's recitation of an excerpt from "I Have Been to the Mountain Top", Dr. King's last and most memorable speech. Mayor Bill Carroll made a surprise visit and speech, well received by those who attended. Closing remarks were made by Mrs. Grace Powell, the principal of Vacaville High School. "We Shall Overcome" was sung by the audience accompanied by the choir. All in all the rally was very successful.

The BSU has been active for several years. The purpose of the BSU is to promote togetherness and unite black students at Vaca High. Congratulations to the BSU for a job well done.

Under the supervision of Mrs. Gary, the French Club has been one of the most involved clubs at Vaca High. The club takes part in many fundraisers— selling candy, Valentine's Day carnations and variety of other items.

The purpose of the French Club is to give the students a better understanding of the French culture. The club meets on the first and third tuesday of every month.

Field trips are often on the agenda. This year the club took bus trips to San Francisco in order to eat in some of the finer French restaurants and tour the city.

One of the biggest events of the year is the French Feast— a colossal display of hundreds of different French foods, ranging from main dishes to fine French desserts. The members and students decorate the Little Theater and the feast begins. All that food! It is no wonder that people walk out of there with the feeling that they were ultimately stuffed.

The French Club was a very successful and active club. If effort, determination and dedication count for anything then this club will be around for a long, long time.

Bark Staff

What kept you informed about school issues, local concerts and students at Vacaville High School this past year? The answer is quite simple, it was Vacaville High School's newspaper- the Bark. Throughout the year the Bark staff worked hard to get the newspaper out once every month with only a staff of twelve.

Covering every event on campus got to be almost impossible. Students on the Bark staff were also required to sell enough advertisements, $300.00 worth for every issue, to have the paper printed. The work was chaotic and demanding but seeing 1800 copies of the finished product was worth the time and effort.

The Associated Student Body is part of Student Council, perhaps the largest part. The rest of Student Council is made out of class representatives. The ASB members, on the other hand, represent the entire student body.

The ASB sponsors such activities as Homecoming, Winter Festival and Spirit Week. They create activities for everyone, not just the individual classes.

ASB acquires the money for its activities from bake sales and student body card sales. You did buy your student body card didn't you? Those who purchased cards officially joined the Vaca High Student Body and received discounts on activities and at local merchants. Thanks to the ASB for providing us with exciting activities that hold a lot of special memories for us all.

Associated Student Body

1. Gayle Gallagher, Kathy Patrick and Kim Ford making a smash at the talent show. 2. Yvette Brown looks like she is on her way to Hawaii. 3. Shane Van Balen preparing for a day at the beach. 4. Elaine Mayberry, is that your gorgeous formal you were going to wear to the Homecoming Dance?

As the 1983-84 ASB President there were many activities in which I had the pleasure of participating. It was difficult to say if the school year was a total success. I do feel that "to succeed" should be defined as accomplishing goals which you have set for yourself. All of our activities had goals. These goals were met. We did succeed.

Being a student at Vaca High was very fulfilling and rewarding. Things which happened kept school a little more fun than it would have been with just reading, writing, and arithmetic. I hope that people will always remember events like Homecoming, dances, sports events, and all those other good times that occurred throughout the year.

In a final note it seems appropriate to say Good Luck and the Best of Wishes to a class who finally finished 12 years of school. Good luck to the future graduates of 1985 and 1986. These classes show us great potential. To answer the question have we succeeded, I honestly feel that we have done nothing but that.

ASB Officers: Yvette Brown Publicity Director; Tina Helmts, President; Pam Ford, Board Representative; Allyson Christian, Treasurer; Liz Zysman, Recording Secretary; Candy Martinez, Corresponding Secretary; Dianne Eldridge, Vice President; Chantelle Landache, Public Relations; Shane Van Balen, Survey Director.

1984 Ulatis Staff

Yearbook is considered to be a club on campus; however, yearbook is really a class which meets every day during fifth period. The 1984 Ulatis staff consisted of twenty members.

The yearbook staff, with the help of Mr. Swenerton, the yearbook advisor, was responsible for all the work put into the 1984 Ulatis. With many nerveracking deadlines and minor setbacks the staff began to wonder exactly what they had gotten into.

Long hours after school and on holidays, finally paid off once the book was completed.

The yearbook staff was divided into four departments. The business department, in charge of selling ads and raising money to pay for the yearbook; the layout and design staff, in charge of designing each page; the copy staff, in charge of writing all the articles and captions for each page; and the photography division, in charge of getting pictures and candids for every page. The editor, Michelle Gardner was in charge of over seeing the work put into the yearbook. Michelle made quite a few donations of original ideas for the 1984 Ulatis.

Everyone in the class benifited one way or another. They learned responsiblity and how to work together to reach a common goal.

Rock Of Ages

1. Michelle Gardner is kicking back for her afternoon soap. 2. Bright and early on a Saturday morning, Laura and her friend F.U. try to get something accomplished. 3. "Get that camera out of my face," says Kristy Duncan. 4. Laura McNamara sits with "alli", her only love. 5. Michele Gaudet, Michelle Cardoza and Laura McNamara have another fun-filled day. 6. Natalie Wiley is ready for class to end. 7. F.U. Kicks back after a hard day's work. 8. "Oooops" says Shawn Eagleton. 9. "Are you sure this goes like this?" asks Michelle Gaudet. 10. Byron Cone is ready for hard work. 11. Michelle Cardoza says "I dare you." 12. Michelle Gardner expresses her love for Laura McNamara. 13. Ross Shapiro is finally at work. 14. Laura McNamara is not camera shy. 15. Kristy Duncan focuses on her next victim. 16. Natalie Wiley tells Ross where to put his negatives. 17. Michelle Cardoza has a great old time. 18. Laura McNamara again! 19. A typical day in room 21. 10. Mr. Swenerton on deadline. 21. Is it that trivial, girls? 22. Michele Gaudet, Michelle Gardner, and Laura McNamara clowning around at yearbook camp. 23. ## S Club

The Service Club is dedicated to serving Vacaville High School and the community. The S Club took on more fund raisers than any other club. They sold M&M's, singing telegrams, and the programs at football games. Meetings were held twice a month on the second and fourth Tuesdays.

Row 1: Linda Heimann, Michelle Nicolas, Jennifer Chu, Paul DeLeon, Jamie Stone, Nancy Shrieves

FFA

The only requirement to be in the Future Farmers of America, was to be in an agriculture class and to have a plant or an animal project. The club met every third Tuesday of each month to discuss fundraisers and field trips. Thanks to the time put in by Mr. Stadler, Mrs. Whent, and Mr. Horn, the club had a lot of success this past year.

German Club

The German Club has just over thirty members. Their annual Christmas caroling is the big event, however in the past few years the event has been rained out. The club had one "leither" who was Murphy Johnson. The club seemed to do as they pleased. All in all the club had a rewarding year.

Kim Valmore, Lisa Huffman, Anne Watson, Mr. Korman, Alvin Camacho, Kevin Freeman, Eric Brown, Chris Butler, Patricia Coates, Sarah Mote, Sabina De-

vito, Murphy Johnson, Kara Maloney, Kelly Murphy, Melissa Dunning, Dana Locke, Roxanne (Rosanne Rosanadana) Ratterman, Cara Ritz

Spirit Club

The Spirit Club is a great asset to Vacaville High School. The club attends all football and basketball games. They participated in the Gardian Angles, helped to provide treats for the football players and promoted spirit throughout the school. A big thanks was owed to Mrs. Montalvo for her help in organizing the club.

Row 1: Shane Van Balen, Shawna Carpil, Kristy Owens, Julie Patterson, Terri O'Flinn, Roxanne Ratterman, Kelly Murphy, Tami Covie, Mandy Woodworth, Annesa Dave
Row 2: Michelle Belavier, Kathy

Block V

Block V is a club that is especially designed for the holders of varsity letters. The Block V put on the very successful lift-a-thon, took their annual trip to the snow and visited Santa Cruz. Thanks to President Mark Tipton and Vice President Yvette Brown, the club members had many memorable times.

Row 1: Robert Kramer, Rick Duncan, Rob Humphrey, Pat Vandenburg, Kara Maloney, Robin Hawkins
Row 2: Paul Scarpa, Chris Stewart, Murphy Johnson, Diana Riggert
Row 3: Karen Adams, Dave Smith, Dave Wanetic, Rebecca Villa
Row 4: Holly Brown, Stephanie Mease, Brian Borchert, Sheri Warlick

5: Jeff Kroenlin, Chantelle Landaiche, Ed Berry, Debbie Knutson
Row 4: Mark Tipton, Lisa Evans, Gayle Gallagher, Pam Hutchings
Row 6: Rhonda Locke, Melissa Tipton
Row 7: Steve (What-Ever-Happened-To-Dallas) Smentek.

Row 1: Julie Harris, Sabina Devito, Kelly Murphy, Anne Elliot, Rhonda Locke, Jimmy Hilton, Carla Mark Smith Row 2: Mrs. Edwards, Pete DeGracia, Kidby, Bret Gray

Thespian Club

The International Thespian Society is a drama club for honors students. The members were very serious about their acting. They put in a great deal of time to perfect their theatrical abilities. The club performed street pantomime at the Fiesta Days Parade.

Diana Buchanan, Paul DeLeon, Carla Kidby, Tina Lori Thill, Marsha Brandeberry, Kym Collins, David Taylor, Karen Kassis, Cindy Delorenzi, Kelly Maloy, Wanetick

Spanish Club

The Spanish Club has been around for a long time. It has always been a very active club. The members get together to discuss fieldtrips and other activities. The members of the club were friends even before their membership. This added to the success of the club.

Choir

The Choir underwent some major changes this past year. After the retirement of Mrs. Pokorney several classes of choir were combined into one. The choir seemed to hang in there under the supervision of Mrs. Stevenson. They had a few concerts and sang at some assemblies.

AFS

The American Field Service is a club at Vaca High that promotes the exchange of our students with students of many foreign countries. One of the purposes of the club was to better the members knowledge of foreign cultures. Under the supervision of Mr. Korman, the club proved to be very successful in meeting their goals.

Anne Eliot, Kelly Murphy, Pete DeGracia, Roxanne Ratterman, Dan Collins, David Smith, Tina Schairer,

Jimmy Hilton, Sabina Devito, Paul DeLeon

Drama Club

The Drama Club had a listing of over forty members. The purpose of the club was to promote dramatic endeavors and present quality theatrical productions. The members sponsored a candy sale to help raise money for their field trip to Sacramento State University to see the play Makado. By promoting the theatrical arts, the club provides an opportunity for budding actors and actresses to show their stuff. The club helped with play productions which were very successful.

Julie Harris, Shane Van Balen, Roxanne Ratterman, Paul DeLeon, Carla Kidby, Julie Barnes, Sarah Mote, Pete DeGracia, Mark Smith, Julie Patterson, Sabina

Devito, Terri O'Flynn, Tammy Hilton, Bret Gray, Annasa Davis, Anne Watson, Mark Shettlesworth, Mrs. Edwards.

Mr. Fernandez, Henery Warner, Richard Westbrook, Allen Miller, Richard Reardon, Mr. Morebeck

Fishing Club

Some students played hookey and went fishing. Vaca High students could go on school sponsored fishing trips with expert advise from Mr. Fernandez and Mr. Morebeck. The Fishing Club took trips to Lake Berryessa every two weeks. The fisherman took advantage of their trips, coming home with fish every time.

CSF

"Scholarship for Service" is the statewide motto for the CSF. CSF is the only club on campus whose requirement for eligibility is high academic achievement. The club sold Saint Patrick Day Carnations and candy. With all the outstanding students at Vaca High the club will have a long life.

Chris Crouse, Paul DeLeon, Anne Elliot, Lori Friday, Joni Mooney, Arah Mote, Janie Powell, Michelle Takamoto, Liz Zysman, Karen Adams, Mary Baird, Jodiann Cox, Cindy Delorenzil, Liz Douglas, Juliet

Mrs. McCarl, Karen Broughton, Kristine Layne, Lisa Rhonda Locke, Mrs. Byrnes
Evans, Debbie Pansby, Mrs. Tucker, Faith Poirrier,

FHA

A new club was formed at Vaca High this past year. The club was called the Future Homemakers of America. The members of the club raised money to go on field trips and attend lectures related to fashion merchandising, restaurant service and management, interior design and child development.

Row 1: Mary Baird, Allyson Joye, Deanne Jenkins Donny Olson, Sandy Campbell, Barbara Baird, Janie

Science Club

The science Club has had quite a memorable year. On their first field trip to Golden Gate Park they found a nude sun-bather. Although it may not seem so, the main goal of the club is to encourage interest in science. Meetings every thursday at lunch helped to keep members together and organized.

5. Eric May says, "Take a look at this, Jay."
6. "How do you work this thing?" wonders Margie Obetz.

Seniors

The senior year. This was the year to decide about our futures, and the life that laid before us. All those decisions about college, going away, and four more years of school.

One can't help but wonder what happens after graduation. Will my friends still be close? What will college life be like? How much will my life be changed? These seemed to be questions that were impossible to answer; however, with time, determination and a strong will, these questions were answered one way or another.

The Senior year is by far the greatest and most memorable. The events that happened in previous years mean so much more in the final year. The excitement of everything seemed almost tripled. It seemed everyday was taken a little more seriously.

The good times were so plentiful. The year came and went so fast it seemed it was hardly there at all. But the year was definitely there. It left it's marks in our memories, never to be forgotten.

High school memories last forever. This must mean that there is something good about it. What will some of the seniors miss about Vaca High School?

Tammy Brunst; My friends and partying

Steve Van Dyke: Being sick and

Nancy Kay Shreve: All the people who have been so helpful to me.

What is it like to live on a Greek Island? Very different than the life style in America. Evangelia Pelancou is one of the lucky people who experienced this change.

18 year old Lia decided that being a foreign exchange student in America would make her senior year very memorable. Lia learned that there are many differences in culture between the two countries. In the U.S. there are large amounts of take out food. In Greece not many people eat out. Even with the changes in culture Lia seemed to have a great year.

The Prom is the most spectacular event of the senior year. What seems to make it so memorable? Getting ready, shopping for the dress, the formal pictures, or the work putting the Prom together?

We started our senior year with a goal of raising $10,000. We sold sweatshirts, candy, garters and bumper stickers. After all the work the pay off was great. The Prom of the class of 1984. The Night, May 25. The place, the beautiful, Sheraton Palace. The most cherished night of the senior year.

When Paul Hobbs was asked what the difference between Australia and the United States was, he replied "about 12,000 miles." Paul also found many other differences between the two countries. In Australia the school starts at nine o'clock and last until four o'clock in the afternoon. The Australian schools rotate so that the schedules are never the same for two days in a row.

Paul enjoyed playing sports in Canberra so it seemed natural that he was on the 1984 Varsity Football team. Paul said that being an AFS student was exciting and quite an experience.

Javier has many hobbies. In Spain he rides horses, plays tennis and races in Motor Cross events. Javier's big game is soccer. He played for Vaca-High on the Varsity soccer team.

Javier says he would much rather have a meal from Spain over an American one any day. He says people here just open a can and heat it up. In Spain two or three hours are spent preparing a meal.

Congratulations for all your efforts in school and extra curricular activities, Javier.

Did you ever take the time to think about how the student government works or what it does?

The Student Government is made out of individual members of the Student Council. Their jobs are endless. They have the responsibilities of planning everything from homecoming to the Senior Prom, and everything in between.

The President of the senior class is Nichelle Maxie. The Vice President is Teresa Obetz. The Treasurer is Yolanda Buchannon. The Secretary is Elaine Mayberry.

He may have thought that six years of English would have gotten him through, but he quickly learned that America was more complicated then that.

Andreas Krebb, a foreign exchange student from Germany, found that there were many differences between the two countries.

School is a little easier here and sports is different. In order to play sports you must join a club with a team. Andreas played on the Varsity Soccer Team for the Bulldogs.

We would like Andreas to take some California sunshine home to Germany.

Christine said school here is easier. In Germany kids attend school on Saturdays. Christmas vacation last two weeks, while Easter vacation is

Class

GRADUATION DAY

of '84

Today we'll start a new life
And we'll say our last goodbyes
To all the friends we've grown to love
With whom we've laughed and cried.
Remembering the fun and the laughter
The problems and the fears
And watching all our memories grow
Throughout our high school years.
The memories of the dances
And the new friends that we've met
Vacation, teachers, talking
And exams we'd rather forget.
Yes, high school days are precious, but brief
Where all your dreams come true
It is not the end, but the beginning
Of a life we will start anew.

Classes

There is no doubt about it-the underclassmen make up the majority of the population at Vacaville High School. Without them the school would be two-thirds empty.

The junior year is usually taken in stride (they have had a whole year to learn the ropes). The junior year is when you're in the middle - not the youngest and not the oldest. One feels very secure and content. They still have one more year to go and they seemed to make the most of it. Good luck to the class of '85.

In the beginning sophomores tend to be very nervous about the idea of high school. They set out to achieve goals and make names for themselves. Many become accomplished at sports, clubs, or other activities. Let's hope for the best for the class of '86.

Same place? Same thing? Are we really creatures of habit or do we just enjoy having the same thing at the same place? We asked some juniors about their favorite lunchtime hangout. Here are their responses:
Sabrina DeLaRosa- The boys bathroom.
Tina Bailey- Rebecca's car.
Rebecca Villa- my car
Teresa Alcock- playing the piano in the band room.
Jonathon Hackman- the library

Juniors are no longer 'lil' sophomores and yet they're not the 'big' seniors. We asked some juniors at Vaca High how they felt to be in between:

Laura Chancellor- there isn't much different.

Barbara Baird-It's great! I know my way around.

Caroline Read-Juniors have more privileges.

Michele LaCagnin-Good, because I can just be me.

Joe McKim-Not as self-consious as sophomores.

Sophomores have to make a big adjustment when they get to Vaca High, they have to find their way around campus. For some, the first day of school was no problem. But others had some very interesting "experiences". When we asked Lisa Molina if she got lost the first day, her reply was; "Yes, Mentally!" Lewie Fitz says he got lost every day. Ricky Lopez confessed to walking into the girls locker room instead of the guys. We're still wondering if maybe that "mistake" was accidental.

Sophomores face the difficulty of changing to a new school. They may find that there are differences between Jr. High and High School. We asked some sophomores what they thought the biggest difference was.

Scott Jaye- Jr. High has girls, High School has women.

Scott Lopez- It's a lot bigger and too far to walk to your classes.

Lance Holt- No different, it's still school
Krissy Burke- The people are friendlier and easier to meet.

The sophomore year is the first year that students may leave campus to go to lunch "legally". Lunchtime stampedes by sophomores are quite noticeable at Jack in the Box and Taco Bell. A few sophomores were asked how they felt about walking off campus for lunch:

Kristy Duncan- It's great but I rather drive.
Jill Blechschmidt- I like to get away from school so I love it.

Matt Friesen- When food is concerned, I'll walk anywhere.

Reason Tardy

Being the youngest of the classes, the sophomores have their own individual ideas of high school. We asked a few sophomores at Vaca High to give a one word description of how they felt about high school:

Marisa DePianto- "Sideways"

Michelle Tonner- "Experimental"

Matt Bynum- "Lame"

Tina Casillas- "Suicide"

Debbie Pansby- "Non-compatible"

Dawn Gillespie- "Tardy"

Doug Bourgeois- "Boring"

Jennifer Lund- "Different"

Krissy Burke- "Gnarly"

Danielle Baird- "Totally"

1. Sophomores speeding to class. 2. Mary Borehers taking a break from practice. 3. Hey, kid don't look so sad, Friday is almost here. 4. Sophomores catch a quick ride up to McDonalds.

Faculty

They have been with you since you were knee high. They stuck by you through the sun, rain, sleet and even snow. Sometimes they are not shown the gratitude that they deserve. These people are the faculty that helped build your education.

All teachers have a few things in common. Some of these similarities are often forgotten by students, the most obvious is that teachers and administrators are human. They have feelings, senses, likes and dislikes. At Vaca High we have teachers that have hobbies quite similar to many students. Some go rafting, skiing, hunting, fishing, sewing and camping. Others enjoy the more necessary functions such as eating and sleeping. Teachers have had many unique experiences. One teacher at Vaca High tripped over a garbage can and fell down in front of a classroom full of students on her first day of teaching.

The rest of the staff also deserves much credit. Without the custodians, cafeteria staff, supervisors, and secretaries Vaca High would not be what it is today. It takes a great amount of work and determination to keep a school like this running smoothly. Thanks to a great staff for making it possible.

..... 2. Mr. Swenerton! Now we know why you're a teacher! 3. Mr. del Calvo has the grip that kills.

Give a one word description of how you feel about teaching:

Mrs. Barclay- "Rewarding"

Mr. Ray- "Hysteria"

Mr. Smith- "Work"

Mrs. Whent- "Exhausting"

Mr. Dick- "Bilked"

Mr. Korman- "*#@$*!!"

Mrs. Lange- "Challenging"

Mrs. Gary- "Enthusiastic"

Mrs. Hays- "Fantastic"

Mr. Swenerton- "Unappreciated"

Mr. Smentek- "Carcenogenic"

What was your most embarrassing teaching moment?

Mrs. Newchock- I was lecturing and spread my arms to make a point and my blouse unbuttoned from top to bottom.

Mr. del Calvo- I taught an entire period, the wrong subject, to the wrong class from a different book.

Mr. Dick- One of my psychology classes failed to notify me that my fly was half-open until the end of my lecture.

Mrs. Whent- I was locked in the Greenhouse by a student.

Mrs. Stadler- The day I asked Mr. Stadler if he would like to be the father of my child. This was before we even started to date.

Mrs. McCarl- It is too embarrassing to talk about.

Mrs. Holm- Pointing to the wrong country on a wall during a lecture about that country.

What are some of the craziest excuses used by students for being late for class?

Mr. Spezzi- "Snowed" in at Tahoe.

Mrs. McCarl- The student had to blow his nose

Mr. Lange- I've never been to room six and I wanted to see what it was like.

1. Now how does this thing work . . . ? 2. Mrs. Howard and Mrs. Mendez sure look happy that it is Friday. 3. Alright class. That's the lesson. Enjoy. 4. Mm-mm good. 5. Mr. Horn's favorite food—wormy apples.

If you had a second choice for a career what would it be?

Mrs. Whent- I couldn't get a fat person in the halls.

Mrs. Gary- Not tan enough to look good in my Senior Prom dress, so I was tanning at lunch.

Mrs. Holm- Visiting a sick pig in the Agriculture Department.

Mr. Smentek- The Head Coach and Team Physician for the Dallas Cowboy Cheerleaders.

Mr. Ray- Third Baseman for the Giants or the A's

Mr. Smith- Winery Chemist

Mr. Tombarelli- a Beach Bum

Mr. del Calvo- An apprentice to Cal

Mr. Korman- Philosopher or a pilot (to overcome my fear of flying.)'

Mr. Dick- The President of Texas Oil Co.

Mrs. Stadler- A Basketball Player.

Mrs. Hays- A high-paid Consultant.

Mrs. Balala- An Ophthalmologist.

Mrs. Newchock- A Travel Agent or a Travel Lecturer.

Mrs. Powell, our Vacaville High School Principal, has endless responsibilities. She is in control of every little detail that goes on at our school. She is responsible for the employees, students safety, and problems with parents, etc.

Mrs. Powell used to attend Vaca High herself. She used to be the one who did the homework and took the tests at school. Now she's in charge of the curriculum. It seems the tables have turned and now she is there to oversee our hard work and progress. Maybe she does this in memory of her own hard schoolwork. Without Mrs. Powell's drive and stamina our school system, as we know it, would fall apart.

In John Naisbett's best-selling book, Megatrends, the point is made that we are living in an age of transition from an industrial economy to an economy based on the creation and distribution of information. At the core of our new society is a plethora of technological devices to gather, store, analyze, restructure and disseminate data for a multitude of applications. Naisbett nevertheless observes a human need in this mechanical and technological culture for cultivation of closer personal relationships. Naisbett writes, "Our response to the high tech all around us is the evolution of a highly personal value system to compensate for the impersonal nature of technology." He identifies the trends as "high tech/high touch."

Similar to the national trend toward "high tech/high touch," students on our high school campus are seeking personal contact with others in order to balance the increasingly impersonal kind of society which is developing. The close association with peers, the desire for sharing experiences and the recognition of the inter-dependence of all of the groups on the high school campus are examples of student commitment to touching the lives of others in order to find satisfaction in their own lives. I suspect it will be the warmth of personal contacts made here in school rather than specific, cognitive academic learning that will be at the heart of a collection of memories that graduates will treasure years later when looking back to high school days. This year's Ulatis supports that idea with the theme of "Warm thoughts, pleasant memories."

Twenty, fifty or perhaps seventy years from now, when memories of your high school experiences are recalled, you may discover that the quality of your inter-personal relationships when you were young set a trend for the rest of your life. You may realize that your personal contacts helped to clarify the values you hold and to provide motivation for learning and zealous participation on other endeavors. The personal attributes you developed may well prove to be your primary coping mechanisms for success in our high tech society. As you seek to maximize your human potential in the future, it is my hope that the warm thoughts and pleasant memories you carry from your high school years will generate a balance between high tech and high touch.

Grace B. Powell

Administration

What does Mrs. Powell do when she needs a little help, when there are too many things for her to handle all at one time? Well, it's very simple, she calls on her administration! Who are these people who fit under the title of administration? They are Doug Stark and Herb Hays, Vice Principals, Dan Wettstein, Dean of Students, and Shereene Wilkerson Assistant Dean of Students.

This year the administration did a little experiment. Mr. Stark, Mr. Hays and Mr. Wettstein each taught a class. This gave Mrs. Wilkerson the opportunity to train as an administrator for three periods and still teach for two. Not only did this program help Mrs. Wilkerson, but it also kept Mr. Hays, Mr. Stark, and Mr. Wettstein in touch with what was going on in the classrooms and around school.

Doug Stark, Vice Principal

Herb Hays, Vice Principal

Dan Wettstein, Dean

Shereene Wilkerson, Assistant Dean

Counsellors

Counsellors have a pretty important job at Vaca High. They help us with our class scheduling, help us find the right college, help us apply for scholarships and they provide us with all kinds of information about who to see and where to go to find our way out of high school and into the real world.

If it sounds like the entire purpose for counsellors is to help students then you got it right. Not enough students utilize the help of their counsellor, or they wait until it is too late to do any good. Counsellors are available to help students out with problems with teachers and, more importantly, personal problems that may interfere with school. Next time you have a problem, or just need someone to talk to, see your counsellor.

Secretaries

What does one do when they need help? Well, they either stand around not knowing what to do, or they ask one of Vaca High's many friendly secretaries for assistance. The secretaries not only supply free information and assistance, they also type letters, answer phones, and take care of attendance. To break the doldrums of their day to day work, the secretaries have secret pals. At the end of the 1984 school year the names of secret pals were passed out for the following term. Mrs. Barnes thought she would be sly and passed out her name to everyone. However, she was found out. The secretaries are so busy that they hardly have time for these extras.

The students of Vaca High say "thanks" to all the secretaries for all of their help in our not-so-organized lives.

Staff

In the midst of our busy schedules at school, we seem to forget some very important groups of people. They are the campus supervisors, the cooks, the custodians and the instructional assistants. Where would we be without them? Some people may joke that without these people our school might be better off. In actuality they are essential. The custodians keep the school clean, the cooks feed us that mm-mmm good cafeteria food, the instructional aides help us pass our classes, and the campus supervisors control our sometimes out-of-hand behavior. Without them the school would soon be a pigsty full of hungry, bad-mannered, flunkies! To the cooks, janitors, supervisors, and aides—we salute you!

Advertisements

Throughout the year much time, work, effort and money was put into this yearbook. Where did all the money come from? A large portion of the money was brought in by ads. Ads were bought by local merchants that supported the 1984 ULATIS. A great deal of thanks is owed to those people who helped make the ULATIS possible. So, next time you have the chance, consider going to a merchant that has helped to sponsor Vacaville High School.

Warm Thoughts And Pleasant Memories

As the 1983-84 school year came to a close, some students were relieved, some were sad, and still others were unsure about what the future held. The majority of the sad students seemed to be the seniors. It came as a shock to see that their last year at Vacaville High School was over. There was an air of anticipation and enthusiasm about college, work, or other future plans. The juniors seemed to be more relieved than anything else. With their last school year still ahead, they seemed to be quite comfortable waiting for their chance to be the ruling class. Sophomores were looking forward to not being considered "babies" any longer. The next year they would be the "upper-class".

As the year progressed, it left many warm thoughts and pleasant memories for everyone. No matter how any of the students chose to recall their year, it was a year to be remembered as fun, exciting, challenging, and rewarding.

1. Michell Takamoto and Dianne Eldridge handing out computer dating cards. 2. The hungry lunch crowd rushes to the cafeteria. 3. Vacaville's Macho Men. 4. Stan Moore and Terri Miller give hallway hugs. 5. Me Tarzan. You Jane. 6. Lisa Evans takes time for a friendly smile.

Warm Thoughts And Pleasant Memories

1. Mark Tipton and Brenda Hausler say goodbye to another year. 2. Lunchtime activities bring many observers. 3. Is this where the pyramid contest is supposed to be? 4. Karen Green, Kim Silva and Lisa Huffman plotting something evil. 5. Michelle?? Kym?? 6. Ron and Michele, is this a lover's quarrel?

EDITOR'S NOTE

Well, dear old class of '84 (and '85 & '86), this is your copy of the 1984 ULATIS and I hope you enjoy it. I know I couldn't make everyone happy with their copy, but I tried. I am sure we made our share of mistakes, but if you look it over carefully we did more things right than wrong.

Right now I would like to take a few paragraphs to say thank you to the people that made this book possible. A lot of credit goes to my editors—Laura McNamara, Michele Gaudet, Ross Shapiro and Michelle Cardoza. With not one of the editors being on a yearbook staff before, it was somewhat chaotic at the beginning. Even with the special training at yearbook camp, which was held over the summer at Santa Cruz, and warnings from myself trying to explain to them what it was like, the editors were still surprised at how much extra time and effort went into a yearbook. But in no time at all things were semi-organized. Laura McNamara, the Layout Editor, was in charge of drawing most of the 240 layouts and getting them ready in time for the necessary photos, copy, and artwork. Laura was also in charge of the entertainment. She kept us laughing when we really needed it (and sometimes when we didn't). Her best routines are: "special", wasermelons, Captain Crunch, F.U., and how many refreshments she drank over the weekend.

Michele Gaudet, the Copy Editor, was in charge of all the articles, captions, and headlines that went into the book. It was sometimes difficult for me to tell one of best friends to rewrite a certain article or change this or that, but in the long run, it all came out just the way we wanted it to be. Ross Shapiro, the Photography Editor, was in charge of all the pictures that went into this ULATIS. I owe Ross a "special" thank you because of all the ribbing I gave him—Thanks Ross! Michelle Cardoza, the Business Manager, was in charge of getting the advertisement section together. This section is a task that I would never have taken, and I don't know if Michelle would take it again either. But there isn't anyone who could have done a better job.

Now for my photographers, Mark Santanicola, Byron Cone, Natalie Wiley, James Toynbee, and Chris Grady. Without Mark we wouldn't have had a color section. He spent many hours (with the help of Mary Cornelison's Studio and the Printery) printing the color that went into the book. Byron Cone can be thanked not only for his photography but for massacring our mascot F.U. Natalie was one of our most versital photographers. Not only could she take pictures, but she could also write copy and do many other things. James Toynbee gets a special thanks for keeping the negatives in order. It would have been easier except for the bad habits other staff members had of misplacing negatives in some of the strangest palces. And last but not least, Chris. Chris wasn't in our fifth period class, but he took a majority of our color and black-and-white candids.

Next comes the Layout Staff—David Edmondson, Steve Hiatt, and Mark Lomtong. Dave (the perfectionist), Steve (the do as he see fit) and Mark ("Laura, are you sure this is right?") did more than just finalize layouts. They did some of the most boring and nit-picking things which are all part of putting together the book. You could say that the Copy staff was one person, the Siamese twins, Kristy Duncan and Shawn Eagleton. They seemed to have the right knack/teamwork and with that teamwork, and their editor, they accomplished writing many an article.

Then there is Penny Jennings. She started the year out in charge of maintaining my office and trying to keep everything else organized (which was close to impossible.) Later in the year she helped with the ad section. What a worker!!

Next in our group is Mr. Earl Swenerton, the Advisor. Mr. Swenerton has the patience of God. Putting up with me and my stubborn attitude is more than any man should ever be asked to do. I know he is glad this year is over. Sorry for any added ulcers, gray hair, loss of hair, or any loss of sleep, I may have caused you. Thanks again for putting up with me.

Jim Gillespie is a man that not many of you know, but without him I can guarantee there would not have been a 1984 Ulati. Jim is our Herff Jones Representative. Thank you Jim!

A special thank you to my teachers and the rest of the High School Staff for being so cooperative and understanding. One more thank you to Mrs. Grace Powell for her support of the 1984 Ulati.

This Ulati is completely different than any you will ever see. It is very different—have you noticed? I hope that I have broke open some new paths for future Ulati staffs to follow. I tried to make this book a people book—meaning I added and removed what you, my fellow classmates, wanted. I hope in years to come you can look at this Ulati and remember the warm thoughts and pleasant memories from high school.

We usually don't dedicate the yearbook to anyone, but I am going to do it. I dedicate this book to my friends—you know who you are. I hope you enjoy your book.

1984 ULATIS EDITOR

Michelle Gardner

P.S. there are two more people that helped make this book possible. They are Mary and Beckie White, the two preceding Editors and my close friends. I learned a lot from you two. Thanks a bundly.—M.G.
